5 Residents Rescued Today as 18-Room Private Nursing Home Wrecked by Fire

3 Men Trapped on Second Floor Saved by Firemen

Flames Spread From First-Floor Bedroom, Sending Up Dense Clouds of Smoke; Investigation Is Conducted

Five elderly residents of the 18-room Bidewell Nursing Home, 28 West Chestnut street, rescued this morning from a two-alarm fire, now under investigation, are being hospitalized for effects of dense smoke.

Two women were taken from the first floor soon after fire equipment arrived, but firemen had to fight their way to bring three men from the second floor. Four others in the building made their way to safety.

Deputy Fire Chief George D. Matthews, who assisted in the rescues, suffered ill effects of the smoke and was treated by a doctor.

Walter Riel, 77, of 13 Warren street, who was taken from the building long after the first two men were removed, was reported in serious condition at Kingston Hospital.

Two other men, reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital are Marshall G. Miller, 67, former local fire alarm superintendent, and Charles Allen, 67, of RD 3, Box 166, Kingston.

The two women taken from the first floor were reported in good condition at the Benedictine Hospital. They are Mrs. Rae Dornbusch, 76, formerly of Elmendorf street, and Mrs. Ida Baldwin, 67, of Kingston.

Burns Through Roof

Fire Chief James M. Brett said the blaze which started in a first-floor, rear bedroom, gutted the second floor and attic, went up through a partition into a blind attic, and burned through the roof of the three-story frame and stone structure.

The first floor bedroom where the fire apparently started was involved in flame when firemen arrived, the chief said, and there was intense heat and dense smoke in the corridor. Origin of the blaze, he said, is under investigation.

Firemen, led by Deputy Chief Matthews, Chief Brett said, did "a magnificent job" in fighting the blaze downstairs so that the men could get to the three who were trapped for a time on the second floor.

Reil, it was indicated, was found in his room long over an hour after the fire started.

Chief Cites Delay

"Apparently there was a delay in notifying the fire department, Chief Brett said. A telephone notice of the fire at 6:59 a. m., was followed by the first box alarm. The second alarm was sounded at 7:04 a. m. The recall was at 11:02 a. m.

First rescues were by Deputy Chief Matthews and Ronald Haines of the Wicks Company. They were assisted by Officers Joseph Kivlan and Charles McCullough, and Frank Kenyon and Carl Curtis, of the Schultz Ambulance Service. Charles Schulenberg, of the ambulance service, assisted in the later rescues.

Fire Chief Brett, Herman Sickler of the Wicks Company, and Fireman Louis Varga, of Central station, rescued Allen and Deputy Chief Matthews with Fireman Haines, brought Miller from the building.

Thought He Perished

Capt. Glyn Southard, of Wicks, and firemen Hugh and Philip Greer rescued Riel, who was the most difficult to find in the smoke-filled building, and it was thought for a time that he might have perished in the blaze.

Chief Brett commended the work of all of the paid firemen and volunteers on the job. Men of the Wicks salvage unit, he said, did excellent work.

All units and men in the paid department were mobilized and

10-Cent Parking Is Opposed

Expenses of City Civic Group Topic

A meeting of the Kingston Civic Association was held Wednesday night at the Court House at which time the directors gave a report to the membership on a meeting of the directors with the chairman of the finance committee of the Common Council.

The meeting was well attended with President Brendon Alexander presiding.

Cut Was Lower

In presenting the report to the members it was reported that it had been expected cuts of approximately $147,000 would be made in the 1957 budget, but only about $141,000 was eventually cut from the budget. The current bonded indebtedness of the city was reported well in excess of $2,000,000 and has been increased by almost a half million dollars in the past two years.

The members were told it takes about $67,000 yearly to pay only the interest on the debt.

Despite deficiency financing and extra appropriations late in the past year, the city ended the year with many bills owed, the largest, it was said, is about $36,000 to Central Hudson.

It was pointed out the increase in city spending in the past two years was over twice, percentage wise, of that of the county government and the only way to rectify this is to find out where expenses can be cut and make a sincere effort to have them cut.

To Study Spending

Members of the Association will be appointed to committees of their choice to investigate spending by various city departments and appropriate action can then be taken.

Later discussion from the floor showed disapproval of the proposed increase in the parking meter charges. the feeling expressed was that the return is hardly worth the expense The Common Council recently recommended an increase to a 10-cent an hour parking fee.

An appeal will be made for new memberships. The group was warned by speakers that the only way to reduce spending was to do it wisely, even though there would be many people who would be affected.

New Officers

Officers of the Association elected by the board of directors on November 15 are Brendon Alexander, president; Richard Rider, vice president; Mrs. Eleanor Singer, secretary and Eugene DeDea, treasurer.

Directors are Bernie Singer, Eugene DeDea, Richard Rider, Brendon Alexander, Mrs. Ruth Cushing, Benson Krom, Al Seitz, William Yates and Norman Shapiro.

Harriman Would Increase State Police Strength

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Gov. Harriman placed before the legislature today a broad highway safety program that called for increasing the state police force and compelling big trucks to use speed recorders.

In a special message to the legislature, Harriman said New York had reduced accidents last year but "there is much more that we can and must do to promote traffic safety."

Chief Proposals

His chief proposals:

1. A 12 per cent increase in state police strength—from 1,200 to 1,344.

2. Automatic suspension of a driver's license for two speeding convictions within 12 months.

3. Suspension of a license if a driver in an accident were proved to have shown "bad judgment."

4. Compulsory speed recorders on tractor-trailer trucks.

5. Eye tests for older drivers—eventually every nine years after they are 45.

Some of the recommendations were made by Harriman after his traffic safety conference last week, which drew about 180 mayors and police chiefs from across the state.

Wants Stiffer Fines

He urged judges to levy stiffer fines and said that suspension of licenses was a penalty of serioussproportions.

"I am not satisfied that it has been used vigorously enough," he added.

The governor renewed his suggestion that out-of-state convictions for speeding and other serious offenses should be considered the same as a New York conviction for purposes of suspension or revocation of a license.

Urges Truck Curbs

Harriman said many truck operators used speed-recording devices on tractor-trailers "to provide a better check on their drivers and to have definite information with respect to a vehicle's speed in the event of an accident."

The governor noted that some doctors, fearing later legal action, had been reluctant to administer blood tests to drivers suspected of being intoxicated.

Legislation is needed to protect doctors under such circumstances, Harriman said.

In his proposal on driver judgment, Harriman said the state may suspend licenses of drivers in accidents only if they can be shown guilty of "gross negligence."

Woodstock Hears Of Centralization System

A large group of parents and taxpayers filled the auditorium of the Woodstock School Wednesday night to hear representatives of the Onteora Central School District discuss the possible annexation of Woodstock School District No. 2.

Leon Carey, president of the Woodstock P-TA, which had called the special meeting, introduced the speakers, Philip Gordon, president of the Onteora School Board, and John Moehle, supervising principal of Onteora, and members of the board, Mrs. Daniel Kleine of Shady, Harry Ostrander of Willow and Mrs. Edna Bishop of Olive.

Harmonious Condition

Mr. Gordon said at the outset that he hoped to dispel a number of prevalant rumors and to "clear the air." Insofar as the Board of Education is concerned, he stated there is no animosity or ill feeling existing as it did in past years. "We are not here to sell you an annexation, but we are here to tell you what it has to offer."

He stressed the harmonious condition which has existed within the district since its formation over eight years ago, and he stated that they did not wish to include a minority group which would sew seeds of contention.

He explained that the Onteora Board took action on the February 1 deadline for the problem to be settled because of the district's problem of building expansion. The board had already settled on the regional school idea and was ready to vote on the proposition when it learned that there was a possibility of the annexation of Woodstock and West Hurley. Since much time had already been lost it was felt that it was imperative that a final date be set.

Outlines History

Mr. Gordon gave a brief history of centralization and how the Onteora Central School came into being. Built to house 920 children, 830 entered when the school opened. Today there are 1,260 children housed in the building. He pointed out that it is a large district, including 35 miles east and west along Route 28, reaching to Highmount, bordering on Marbletown district and includes Bearsville, Wittenberg, Shady and Willow. In all it covers roughly 1,000 square miles.

"By reason of its size," he said, "there is a transportation problem. We use five district buses and 15 private buses with a number of feeder routes included. Every child on the regular scheduled bus routes is furnished transportation as well as those on the feeder routes."

$100,000 on Travel

He went on to say that these buses are used for educational trips, extra-curricular activities such as athletic events, contests and other school programs, and the students are returned to their homes at the conclusion of a program. He estimated that $100,000 is spent annually on transportation. One bus is purchased annually and costs in the neighborhood of $10,000 each, these being the pusher or rear

Teachers and representatives of business and industry will meet in the Kingston High School auditorium at 8:45 a. m. for a short program. Teachers will then visit area businesses and industries.

Bell Has System For Landings in Zero Visibility

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Bell Aircraft Corporation has developed a successful system for landing aircraft automatically under zero visibility.

Leston Faneuf, president of the corporation, described the system last night in a speech in which he also announced that Bell planned to spend $15,000,000 to improve its research and development facilities in western New York.

He spoke at the annual dinner meeting of the Buffalo chamber of commerce.

Says Test Successful

Faneuf's description of the new landing device was the first official confirmation by the company of previous reports that it had completed and successfully tested the device.

He said the device was considered superior to any landing device now used in commercial aviation and could guarantee landings in snowy and foggy weather with visibility at "zero-zero."

With the device, he said, an operator on the ground or on the deck of an aircraft carrier could "bring an airplane to a complete landing with zero-zero visibility and with the pilot literally doing nothing but sitting in the cockpit, not even handling the throttle."

Services Convinced

"There is no question in our minds or in the minds of the Navy and Air Force, who have contracts with us for this landing device," he said, that this equipment, located at a commercial airport, would be able to guarantee landings in snowy and foggy weather."

"The people in the armed

Ulster Bonds Go To Trust Bank On $831,389 Bid

Kingston Trust Company was the successful bidder yesterday for the $829,920 water bond issue of the Town of Ulster Water District.

Three bids were submitted with all bidders submitting a 3.6 per cent interest rate and the bonds were sold on the amount of premium offered.

Kingston Trust Company bid $831,389, a premium of $1,469, that premium being $65.90 higher than the next bid which was by George B. Givens and Co., Inc., bidding on their own behalf and Charles E. Weigold & Co., Inc., Bacon Stevens & Co., and Charles King & Co. Their bid was $831,323 with a premium of $1,403.10.

A third bid was submitted by Marine Trust Company of Western New York on their own behalf and for Blair & Company and Hornblower and Weeks. Their bid was $830,418.13, a premium of $498.13.

Bids were opened Wednesday by Supervisor Percy Bush of the town of Ulster who had been authorized by the town board to offer the bonds for sale.

Supervisor Bush said the interest rate offered was considered very good in the present day bond market and reflected the good credit of the town of Ulster.

The bond issue was authorized to complete the water system in the district adjacent to the city of Kingston just north of the city limits and will serve that rapidly expanding area and the Lake Katrine area. Much of the

State Aids Migrants

Growers Are Told Work Plan Better

Rochester, Jan. 24 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell says that New York state has done a great deal to improve the lot of migrant workers thus aiding farmers to compete with other industries for workers.

Mitchell sited state laws regulating the transportation of farm workers, practices of labor contractors, health and safety standards in farm labor camps, and wages and hours.

The cabinet officer made the remarks in a speech read for him by an aide to the New York State Horticultural Society. Mitchell himself was unable to attend the meeting because of transportation difficulties.

The establishment of a new rest stop and information center for migrants near Binghamton was singled out by Mitchell as a progressive move by the state. He also cited studies to determine the best way to care for the migrant's children during working hours.

Mitchell stressed that farmers must be prepared to compete with other industries for workers.

"While the wages of farm workers have risen five-fold in the past 20 years," he said, "They are still far below those industries competing with agriculture for available labor."

In another speech, Kenneth Bullard, a fruit grower from Schuylerville, Saratoga county, suggested that workers of Japanese origin be asked to work in orchards in New York State.

Bullard said they have proven their efficiency and natural skill as fruit handlers on the west coast.

Flemming to Quit ODM

Gray Likely Successor in U. S. Post

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—The New York Times said today that Gordon Gray, a Democrat and longtime office holder, has been selected to replace Arthur S. Flemming as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Mr. Flemming is the son of former Surrogate and Mrs. Harry H. Flemming of 15 Albany avenue.

The New York Herald Tribune printed a somewhat similar story.

Formal White House announcement of the appointment is expected soon, a Washington dispatch to the Times said.

Gray, secretary of the army in the Truman administration, now is assistant secretary of defense for International Security Affairs. He is a North Carolina publisher and educator.

The Times said that with the forthcoming appointment Gray "will become one of the few Democrats to attain high office in the Eisenhower administration."

Flemming, whose resignation had been generally anticipated for the past few days, is expected to return to Ohio Wesleyan University, where he was serving as president when he

New Bills Introduced In State Legislature

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Intensified efforts to work out a compromise in the drawn-out battle over licensing chiropractors is underway in state government circles.

Republican Sen. Dutton S. Peterson of Odessa introduced a bill in the Legislature yesterday that would create an eight-man board of examiners and spell out licensing and practice provisions. The board would work within the Education Department.

Chances Better

For years, chiropractors have sought the same recognition the state gives physicians. Such legislation, opposed vehemently by the medical profession, has been killed consistently in Republican-controlled committees.

Peterson told a reporter that chances "were better than ever" for passage this year.

He said he was optimistic over the chances of two governmental groups, working independently, to come up with a formula that would satisfy both chiropractor and physician.

The main stumbling block, he said, has been to define what duties a chiropractor can or can not perform.

One of the two groups, comprised of education department officials, is expected to report soon to the Board of Regents. The other is the interdepartmental Health Resources Board, created last year by the Legislature. It is required to report to Gov. Harriman and the lawmakers by Feb. 15.

Bonding Bill

Among other bills introduced was one by Assemblyman Anthony Savarese Jr., Queens Republican, that would increase bonding requirements of employment agencies from $1,000 to $3,000.

Savarese said in a statement that the legislation was needed "in keeping with today's salary standards." He said the average private employment agency usually has advance fees from job applicants in excess of the $1,000 covered by the required bond.

Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, Newburgh Republican, proposed a constitutional amendment that would require a legislative committee to hold a public hearing on any bill under consideration, provided a quarter of the membership of either house agrees.

Desmond's proposal would provide also, if a fourth of the membership approves, that a bill kept in committee be brought out for consideration by the entire house. Another suggestion was that the legislature meet 45 days after the close of the regular session to consider bills vetoed by the governor.

Similar proposals by Desmond were killed in the judiciary committee last year.

Would Repeal Act

Republican Assemblyman Grant W. Johnson of Essex county submitted two bills on the new youth court act. One would repeal it. The second would postpone the effective date to April 1, 1958.

Other lawmakers have proposed that the act be delayed until Jan. 1 or April 1 of next year. Both Gov. Harriman and the GOP leadership have agreed on the Jan. 1 date.

In regard to the chiropractor bill, Peterson said he expected a companion measure would be introduced shortly in the assembly.

Peterson's bill is in behalf of the State Chiropractic Assn., which claims a membership of about 1,200. The Chiropractic Guild, which Peterson said had about 100 members, also is considering legislation.

$75,000 School Fire

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 24 (AP)—A four-alarm fire swept through the 80-year-old main building of King School here today, doing damages estimated at $75,000 by Fire Chief F. R. Richardson. It was the second four-alarm fire here in a week. Last Saturday an overheated boiler started a $100,000 fire in the Luders Marine Construction Co. plant. Today's fire wiped out 13 classrooms in the 2½ story building at one of the state's foremost private day schools. A portion of the building had been remodeled to conform to state fire code regulations.

Smuggler

Oklahoma City (AP) — Police caught a shoplifter "flatfooted." The 42-year-old man was arrested walking out of a grocery store carrying a pound of coffee inside his wooden leg.

Two Die in Crash

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—One New York man was electrocuted and another was crushed to death today in a freak automobile accident here. The dead were Kenneth Nelson, 24, of (801 72nd street) Brooklyn and Ernest von Seelen, 51, of (119 S. Indiana avenue) Watertown, N. Y. Lt. John Sherlock of the Fort Lauderdale police said von Seelen was driving the car "in excess of 70 miles an hour" when it failed to make a curve on a new causeway and crashed into an electric light pole. Nelson was thrown out of the car and fell across live wires from the fallen pole.

Opponents Are Named to Seek Mahoney's Seat

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Democratic Assemblyman John H. Farrell and Richard M. Marshall, a Republican, have been nominated as opponents for the state Senate seat left vacant by the death of minority leader Francis J. Mahoney, Democrat.

Farrell and Marshall were formally designated by their parties at county committee meetings last night. A special election is scheduled for Feb. 14.

No Electction Possible

However, the election may never come off. A bill making it unnecessary is pending in the legislature at Albany. It is sponsored by Republican leaders, and Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman has indicated he will approve it if there is no widespread public objection. Under the proposed measure, a vacancy would be filled by a vote of the members of a House of the same party as the member chosen in a previous election. Thus the Democrats in the Senate would ballot on a successor to Mahoney.

Farrelly Seen Choice

Political observers in Albany regarded it as a certainty that Senate Democrats would elect the candidate of the Manhattan Democratic organization to fill that vacancy. Farrell, they say, would be the likely choice.

Mahoney died last Dec. 21. His district, the 25th, extends along the west side of Manhattan from 12th to 102nd Sts.

Marshall, 30, unsuccessfully sought election to the assembly from the fifth district of Manhattan last fall. A bachelor, he holds a Harvard law degree, is a native of New York, and saw service as a combat infantryman in World War 2.

Hunter on Wheels

Clarksville, Ark. (AP) — Most hunters tramp through the woods in search of a deer. Not so with Woodrow Rogers of Clarksville. A paraplegic since he was wounded in World War 2, Rogers hunts deer from a car. Last year was the first since 1948 that he failed to bag a deer and he has a good excuse for missing. Two paraplegic friends were visiting him and he gave them the "shooting side" of the car—the right.

TWIN TRACTION...

a Studebaker-Packard FIRST so good other cars will copy it

WHAT IS IT? Twin-Traction Differential gives you new pavement-gripping traction and new safe control impossible with conventional differentials. The secret lies in the fact that the Twin-Traction Differential delivers the major part of the engine's power to the rear wheel with the best traction—instead of the wheel with the poorest traction (as in a conventional differential). The result—roadability that's better in six important ways:

1. In ice, snow or mud, Twin Traction gets you out of spots where cars with conventional differentials would "spin their wheels."

2. In highway driving, it protects against skids that might otherwise occur when one rear wheel hits a slippery spot.

3. On sharp turns, it improves roadability by applying the major driving force to the inside rear wheel. This also tends to compensate for over-steering.

4. On rough or washboard roads, it reduces the rear-end bounce, sidesway or swerve which results from a fast-spinning wheel suddenly hitting the pavement again.

5. When one rear wheel goes off the pavement onto a soft shoulder, Twin Traction directs the driving force to the other rear wheel, assuring safe, positive control.

6. In ordinary driving, Twin Traction cuts tire wear by assuring more positive traction.

Test it, yourself, today. See your Studebaker-Packard Dealer for a demonstration drive!

DROUTH RELIEF VITAL

In America's great Southwest, the weather is no longer a topic for amiable conversation. It has become almost a horror story.

Ask any farmer anywhere and he will tell you without a second's hestitation that one year of drouth is bad. Many areas of the Southwest have had the plague of dryness for eight years, and that can only spell disaster.

President Eisenhower's recent survey of the region simply dramatizes the grim facts. According to the Agriculture Department, some 29 million acres of farmland have been damaged in some degree by drouth and its accompanying dust.

In three states alone—Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico—the precious top soil on some six million acres may be blown away this winter.

The drouth zone covers all of those states and Texas, Arizona and Kansas, in addition to parts of several other states.

Parched soil crumbling into dust and blowing away means destitution for countless farmers and ranchers unless they get ample help. To the rest of America, it means higher prices for meat as a result of reduced cattle herds, and in time possibly higher wheat prices. Those whose business is tied to agriculture in the area obviously can suffer acutely, too.

Mr. Eisenhower wants to see private lenders do a big share of the job of tiding the suffering ranchers and farmers over the rough spots. But he also thinks the federal government ought to provide some 76 million dollars in emergency relief.

No doubt Congress will be receptive to this request. Such assistance is a matter of elementary protection both for the dwindling farm population of the area and for the nation as a whole. We cannot sit idly by and watch the wasting of human and soil resources in a vast sector of the country.

It is gratifying to note, however, that the President is not concerned merely with alleviating present distress. He strongly favors research into measures which will enable farmers to combat drouth hazards by a variety of means, and the development of plans to cushion their effects in long dry spells.

Nothing would answer the problem so effectively as rain. But so long as it does not fall, the whole nation must meet the challenge posed by its absence.

HIGHWAYS FOR VEHICLES

Nobody questions the superior safety value of our most modern highways, especially the New York-Chicago turnpike network.

But perhaps there is insufficient attention to certain features of these roadways.

Much of the public comment is directed at their remarkable width, the lack of intersections, and the broad division between opposing streams of traffic.

All these things do indeed contribute heavily to safety. But the words "limited access" have a lot to do with safety performance on the super-roads.

Engineers long ago found that one of the principal sources of trouble was the "friction" caused on highways by traffic entering and leaving at side roads, peeling off and coming on at innumerable gas stations and hot dog stands, parking on narrow shoulders.

The new roads bar most of these roadside enterprises except at controlled intervals. Access to the highways is kept to a remarkable minimum, and is governed by long approaches with good "sight distance." And shoulders are built wide and strong on both sides of a pavement, so parked cars can get well off the driving lanes in those emergencies when they must halt outside authorized areas.

The National Safety Council believes these features should be maintained in our vast new interstate highway network. A look at the record of the "limited access" roads suggests the council's position is eminently sound.

THE ARAB REVOLUTION

It is a function of government to evaluate information that comes from many sources and to base policy upon a realistic appraisal of data. When those whose function it is to make such an evaluation are conditioned by their prejudices and wishes to reach conclusions based upon nothing, it is likely that policies originating from such conclusions will be erroneous.

I am only a reporter with such limited facilities as are available to a private person; yet it was possible for me to write on January 22, 1947, in this column as follows:

Arab strength is a reaction to European weakness. It is a definite reflex to the apparent breakup of the British Empire. When the British have left Egypt and India—and possibly Palestine—there is no telling what dimensions and characteristics this revived Moslem power will take on. It may sweep every vestige of the Judaic-Christian civilization before it in the Middle East and on the northern shores of the Mediterranean in Africa. And in Europe it will meet the power of Soviet Russia—as friend or foe, but not as the Defender of the Faith."

During the 10 years that have gone by since this paragraph was published, the course of events has moved with unerring precision as therein indicated. This does not mean that I am particularly wise or even well-informed; it does say that foresight can help those who need to evaluate available data to judge the trend of the times. At the time this was written Nehru was no great factor in world affairs; Nasser was an obscure military officer.

But it could not have been otherwise but that the breakup of the British Empire would lead to political convulsions in Asia and Africa and that a vacuum would appear because some areas of the earth have a long history of being conquered and a short history of self-government. Egypt and India are such areas. It would be false to say that anything is not subject to change, but the likelihood is that countries accustomed to dependence will not long remain independent.

At any rate, those in charge of Soviet Policy have assumed that these postulates are correct and they have moved in to fill the vacuum created by the breakup of the British Empire. The American assumption has been that all nations and races are alike, that those who are dependent are only so because they have been conqured and exploited and that given an opportunity, all human beings prefer independence and liberty. There is no historic data to uphold such an emotional view.

Thus far, the Russians have been more correct and more successful as is evidenced by the role of Syria and Egypt and their ability to paralyze both Great Britain and France by confusing the issue in the United Nations. How skillfully the Russians managed this operation is made evident by the double-standard morality of the United Nations vis-vis Egypt and Hungary.

In the instance of Egypt, the United Nations was forceful; in the instance of Hungary, the United Nations has been cowardly and immobile. The reason is that as regards Egypt, the United States continues to pursue a policy based upon the assumption that the Arabs ought to favor the West if they are guaranteed economic support. But apparently the Arabic mind does not crave independence but security and security takes the form of protection, the kind of protection they once got from Turkey, then from Great Britain and now from Soviet Russia.

It was possible to foresee that this would be so when the Arab League was organized in 1945 and received a subsidy from the United States. The United States gave vent to a generosity which was not explainable by any previous experience in all of human history. Such generosity encouraged politicians to ask for more, all the time, and finally to ask for more without any strings attached, which really meant that they demanded the money for nothing. It was a wonderful, if unbelievable formula and stimulated ambitions among the rulers to try to get what they could from other countries as well.

Eventually they found that the Russians had much to give away, too. They gave arms, tanks, airplanes, instructors in revolution and encouragement to war. Against such gifts, what are farm surpluses?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

MEDICINE HELPS SOW A SEED

How could it happen in mid-20th century America? Yet there it was in the Tennessee agricultural and mining town of 4,000: over half the people were throwing their garbage out of doors and windows; 9 out of 10 toilets were outhouses; only 6 per cent of the children had teeth in good condition; hundreds of the frame homes were unpainted, poorly heated, and dimly lit.

Some 2,000 miles northwest, scores of seasonal farm laborers were suffering from malnutrition, although family incomes were as much as $150 to $350 a week from work in the beet fields and fruit orchards of Oregon. Most of the pay was being spent in saloons and gambling joints.

Today, four years later, good health is being established in those two communities. Medicine was at work as the changes took place but other people and organizations also were on the job. Their combined success there and elsewhere crowns a precept that is governing the rural health movement in America: Help the community itself to better health.

In that doctorless village near Knoxville, Tenn., a survey team, set up by the Tennessee State Medical Association's house of delegates, conferred with community leaders. Soon an abandoned commissary building was converted into a physician's office, with local labor a major contribution. Equipment was donated, a state public health nurse arrived (part of her salary paid by women's clubs), and a labor union finances medical specialty services.

Meanwhile, in that Oregon community, state health department mobile units went to the migrant farm labor camps with Spanish-speaking nurses. This helped ease away fears and suspicions of the predominantly Mexican-American workers, many of whom had never seen a doctor in their lives. When examinations showed that some needed medical care, nearly everyone paid for treatment by physicians in town. School and church authorities offered help with special courses and recreation programs. Many permanent residents personally welcomed the transients. Prizes were given weekly for the cleanest home and cleanest yard. More money is now spent on food, clothing and medical care. There is less business in the taverns and at the gambling tables.

In those two communities, as elsewhere in rural America, one of the chief factors obstructing healthful living often has been local skepticism of medical progress in general and of physicians in particular. Now there is the American Medical Association Council on rural health. Now there are rural health committees in 46 state medical associations and scores more at the county medical society level. These cooperative efforts include well over 5,000,000 people active in farm organizations such as the Grange with 1,000,000 members, the American Farm Federation with 1,600,000 families, and the 4-H Clubs with over 2,000,000 members. These millions are becoming as keenly interested in their special health programs as are the millions in Los Angeles with air pollution and those in other cities with their own health problems.

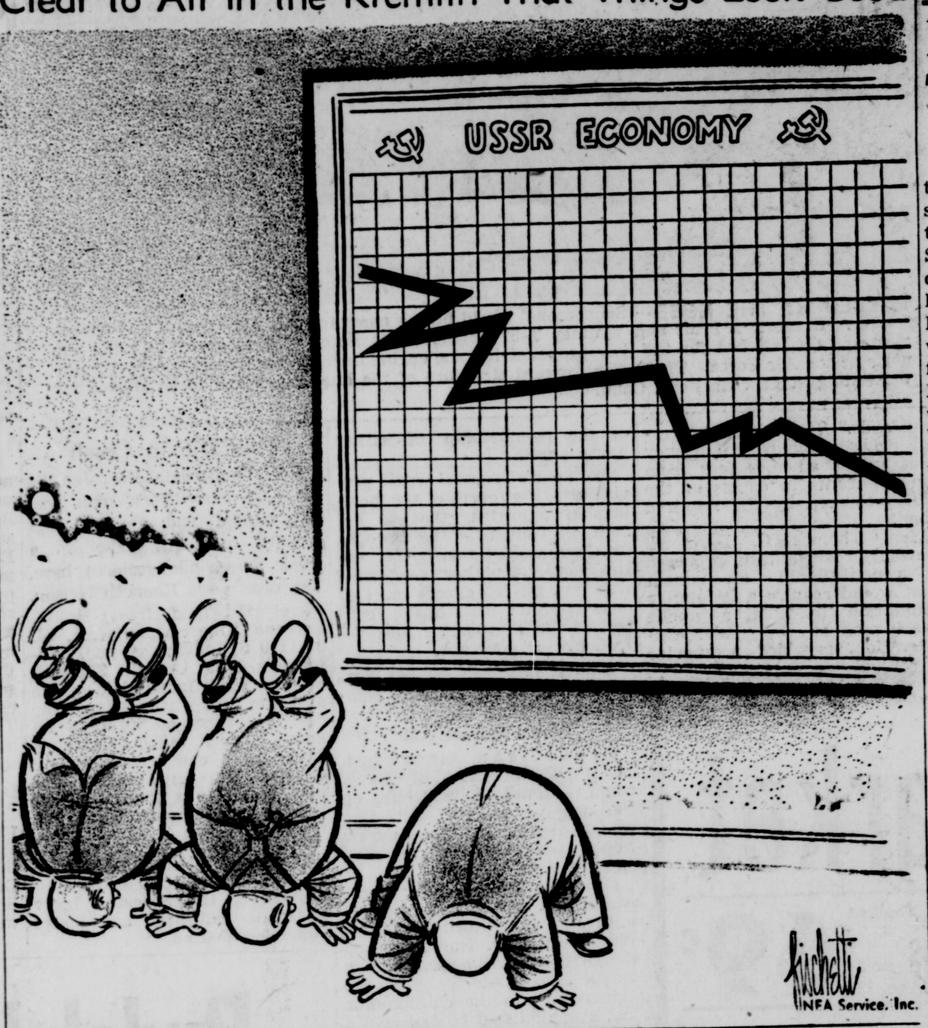
Clear to All in the Kremlin That Things Look Good



Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — A nationwide campaign to encourage both big and little business to give more money to American higher education will be launched this spring by the Advertising Council.

Five years ago U. S. business firms gave 20 million dollars to colleges and universities. Last year it was 100 million. But this is said to be not enough for future needs.

The Advertising Council which conducts this new drive for more private aid to higher education is the public service organization supported by big advertisers, agencies, leading publishers and broadcasters. It has been functioning effectively in the public relations field to promote things like savings bond drives, safety, health, good roads, fire prevention and so on.

THREE YEARS AGO the Ad Council launched its crusade for more and better public schools, more and better teachers. Frank Abrams, former board chairman of New Jersey Standard Oil, kicked off this campaign.

Abrams then continued his efforts as chairman of the Council on Financial Aid for Education. Dr. Frank Sparks of Wabash College is its vice chairman and Dr. Wilson Compton of Washington State University is its president.

This organization in the past three years has made considerable headway in promoting privately endowed higher education, as opposed to government subsidized education. It will sponsor and direct the new Ad Council campaign. But the Ad Council will take no position on the controversial issues of government vs. private financing for colleges and universities.

THE NEW DRIVE will make its appeal to little as well as big business. Smaller corporations will be urged to give support to colleges in their immediate vicinity. Only the bigger corporations will be encouraged to follow the examples set by Rockefeller and Ford Foundations, DuPont, Standard Oil, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, Proctor & Gamble, General Electric, Union Carbide and other big givers to education like them.

The arguments in favor of greater private grants all tie in with the American shortage of trained scientists, engineers and teachers. This situation is, of course, aggravated by growing U. S. population and increased prosperity which permits more young folks to go to college.

The American birthrate has been rising steadily since 1946. By 1960 public high schools will begin to feel the effects. By 1964 it will reach colleges.

In 1900 only 4 per cent of the high school grads went to college. By 1955 it was 30 per cent. It was just under three million last year. It will be six million by 1966.

THE COLLEGES simply aren't ready for this influx. They will need an estimated five billion dollars in the next 10 years for bigger plants—classrooms, laboratories and dormitories. They will need 95,000 more professors. The supply of new graduate Ph.D's, is now only 3,000 a year.

The first year campaign will not make any violent pitch for money. It will merely attempt to create the climate in which colleges can conduct their own appeals for money more successfully. It will be launched in April, just before college commencements and class reunions.

The second part of the program will come next fall as the colleges are opening and the football season begins. Using all press, magazine, radio, publicity and pamphlet media, the Advertising Council will try to run interference for the colleges' own fund drives on the business line.

President Lists Principal Targets in Foreign Policy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Jan. 24 — Sometimes a spontaneous answer to a searching question tells more than a President of the United States can say in all the addresses and statements he may have carefully prepared for public utterance. And this is exactly what happened at the press conferenee today when President Eisenhower gave, in a nutshell, what might be called America's world policy.

The question asked was whether Mr. Eisenhower would care to name three or four things he hoped to accomplish in his second administration. This was the reply:

"Look, everything else fades to unimportance beside this one: that we do make progress toward better world understanding — achieved, I would say, in several steps.

"First, a better understanding among the free nations of the world, that is, better and stronger confidence among them;

"The certainty that all their economic and military strength is equal to the test;

"And, after that, particularly better understanding with the Russians — the Russian government;

Sequence Significant

"And, finally, agreements in which we could all trust them." The sequence is especially signficant. The President believes that priority must be given now to the necessity of strengthening the friendships and alliances of free nations. This means the further development of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Middle East agreement, the Southeast Asia pacts, the inter-American understandings an, in fact, the molding of a partnership of the whole free world.

As this is being achieved by diplomacy, concurrently comes the building up of their economic strength as well as their military potentiality. When all this is accomplished, then, and only then, can there be an "understanding" with the "Russian government." The President doesn't say what kind of government this would be, but he does speak of "agreements in which we could all trust them."

This means of course, that only a free government — one chosen by the people of Soviet Russia in a free election and responsive to the wishes of the people—would make the kind of agreements that the rest of the world could trust.

On Guided Missiles

For, as Mr. Eisenhower said in answering another question at the same press conference about the oft-discussed proposal for a negotiation to bring about a withdrawal by both sides of the troops stationed in central Europe, this "could be accomplished only under mutual agreements in which we both, again, had some means of knowing they were being carried out."

At another point, the President was asked whether his proposals for disarmament and control of guided missiles might affect long-term spending for military purposes and especially for research programs. This was Mr. Eisenhower's reply:

"Well, they are not going to affffect them at all until we have some certainty that we have reached agreements that are enforceable, that is, where there is good faith on both sides—demonstrated good raith. Now, after that happens, then I would expect long-range programs such as you talk about and expenditures to come down markedly. But, until the world can feel safer, I can think of nothing more foolish than to weaken our defensive structure."

The Woodrow Wilson slogan of forty years ago still stands—"The world must be made safe for democracy." It has not been and never will be safe as long as autocratic governments remain in power that can make war instantly without consulting the people.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Chicago, Jan. 23 — The arrogance of the reigning tyrants of the teamsters' union in refusing to give information to a Senate committee about their vast income is good for the country because it is a positive contribution to the anti-union cause. Ultimately and perhaps sooner than this pessimist thinks, there will be a revolt against the great power which has been placed in the hands of fewer than a hundred men if we confine our thoughts to such dictators as Dave Beck, Dave Dubinsky, George Meany and John L. Lewis. These unions are enemies of the country and of the people, both members and non-members.

Some of those who are willing members insist that their unions have done them more good than harm and defend them as beneficient institutions which, like most other enterprises of human beings, have their faults. Some persons may have had the remarkable luck to happen into decent unions and to reap a profit in wages or working conditions. But this benefit to a few is vastly outweighed by the great harm done by the immorality which is the chief trait of the union movement.

Unions freely confess that they have a mission to harm every person who refuses to submit to their commands and every business firm which does not immediately comply. As long ago as the "organizing" insurrections in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York, the literature of the movement frankly said that this was not a sporting contest but a class war. They had the national government on their side against helpless communities whose mayors, boss-cops, sheriffs, and governors betrayed them for political support to be financed from the loot which union bosses wrested from the workers and from worthy local industries.

The revelation of financial crookedness and underworld control of unions, mainly in the AF of L, was ignored even though proven beyond question and even though a few brutal racketeers went to prison. The AF of L and the individual unions concerned in this disgraceful condition did not even profess to regret these betrayals of a public trust inherent in the labor laws and the generous popular tolerance.

William Green, who preceded Meany as president of the AF of L, had the impudence to announce that "autonomy," which was the right of every union under its charter, made it impossible for the executive council, the governing body, to interfere. Thus Dan Tobin, a classical fathead with a weakness for Napoleon brandy and roulette, could explain that he must treat George Browne of the movie unions as a blameless dignitary when they sat together in the council. He also explained that if one such racketeer should hold the other's union up to scorn, then the rest of the brothers would gang up to cast their proxies against him the next time he wanted some concession. The voting power is composed of individual members. When Dave Beck throws his one and one-half million votes onto the table he arbitrarily votes for that many faceless subjects thousands of miles away who never are consulted on any issue.

Under Roosevelt, the unions got special privilege as auxiliaries of his political party. There was scarcely a pretense that the national Labor Relations Board was impartial and it was not long until the pretense that this board was operated by loyal Americans was abandoned in the face of proof that traitorous Communists held the real power.

This long abuse did not anger the people as a whole. We were handicapped by an old superstition that unions were inherently noble and that scandals and direct action were but the expectable foibles of uncouth workmen trying to be parliamentarians. Now at last a Senate committee is picking on Beck and the casual disclosure that Frank Brewster, the sub-fuehrer of the western conference of eleven states, is a big operator on Pacific coast race tracks strikes no fire. In fact, when I dealt with this man's racing interests last summer, toying archly with the name of one of his stables, which is Needmore, I received not one single letter from a readership covering the country. There was not a line of editorial notice. I think this showed that we were drugged to apathy by facts which should have aroused fury.

During the war unions came before the national interest. They got a rakeoff from every dollar. Obviously this is not a "labor" movement at all but a grand racket which now is swollen by the rakeoff from "welfare" extortions, which is incalculable.

But Beck and his teamsters are not exceptional. Dubinsky and Lewis are equally impudent and dangerous and their general conduct in the racket is about the same.

The whole mighty business, running wild outside the law, has been revealing itself as a challenge to the United States and all the several states.

Detroit (AP)—Students at the University of Detroit will be able to take up to two-thirds of their college work from an easy chair at home beginning next September. The college plans to start an educational TV program designed to help solve a classroom shortage and enable short-staffed faculties to reach more students. Even the college tuition may be adjusted to offset the price of a TV set.

Salesman Takes Stand, Is Charged With Girl's Death

White Plains, Jan. 24 (AP)—Edward Eckwerth, 29, charged with the slaying of a Yonkers school teacher, took the stand yesterday as the first defense witness.

Eckwerth is being tried for the murder last July 22 of Rosemary Spezzo, 24, who was beaten to death with a rock in a wooded area near Greenburgh, Westchester county.

Arrested on Coast

Arrested on the west coast last August, Eckwerth reportedly told police he had had sexual relations with the girl and killed her when she demanded that he leave his wife and child. Authorities said at the time they did not believe his story.

Miss Spezzo's mother, Mary, said her daughter died "defending her honor . . . She fought him and she was killed."

Eckwerth had been working as a door-to-door salesman for the Cooke Coffee Co. of Newark, N. J., when he met Miss Spezzo.

Lived in Newburgh

In 1952 he met and married Carol Paul of Walden, where he was working as a painter. They lived in Newburgh.

On the witness stand Eckwerth described a dreary home life as a boy, how he often ran away, and said he was sent three times to Children's Village at Dobbs Ferry, a home for maladjusted children.

Jury Begins 8th Day

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—The jury in the sensational Latham kidnap case began its eighth day of deliberation today.

The five men and seven women got the case last Thursday morning and already have been out longer than any other jury in history of San Diego county. When they went to bed last night they had spent 56 hours in actual deliberations. There was no indication whether a verdit was near. Judge John Hewicker did not call the jurors in yesterday for a report on their progress. Monday they advised him they stood 8-4, without indicating whether this was for conviction or acquittal.

NOW IT'S OKAY TO BARK—Evelyn Seay, 7, hugs her pet dog, Sam, after an Alexandria, Va., judge ruled Jan. 22 that a dog has a right to a few barks without its owner being guilty of a breach of the peace. A neighbor had complained of Sam's barking. (AP Wirephoto)

Hollywood, Jan. 24 (AP)—Ralph Edwards, emcee of the NBC-TV show "This Is Your Life," enters Good Samaritan Hospital today for minor surgery. An associate said Edwards will miss at least one of his weekly shows. Actor Ronald Reagan will substitute for him next Wednesday, the network announced. Nature of the surgery was not disclosed.

Saugerties Church To Hire Architect For Parish House

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties at the annual congregational meeting held in the social rooms Tuesday night authorized the Church Council to hire an architect to draw up plans for a new parish house.

The new building will replace the present temporary parish house and will be used for Christian education, youth work and social activities. It will be constructed on the land adjoining the church.

Plan Modern Building

The Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor, said, "It is hoped that a modern and functional building which will provide adequate classroom facilities, a gymnasium, church office space, and a lounge room for small group meetings can be embodied into the new structure."

The pastor said that within a few weeks a building committee will be appointed who will spend several months studying plans, visiting other Christian education buildings, and determining approximate costs and needs. When the plans have been completed and approved by the committee and church council, there will be a congregational meeting to approve the architect's plans and authorize the raising of the necessary funds. At the present time there is more than $8,000 in the building fund and it is hoped that $5,000 can be added this year from regular church offerings and contributions, the pastor said.

Councilmen Elected

In addition to action on the hiring of an architect, the congregation elected for three-year terms to the church council, Edwin Olson, Franklin P. Clum Jr., Glenford Genthner Jr. and Charles Schumacher. They replace Miss Florence Gippert, John Bub, Charles J. Schirmer and Frederick Kukuk, whose terms had expired.

The church council will meet Sunday to elect the church officers for the year. The officers and council will be installed Sunday, Feb. 3 at the 11 a. m. service.

The budget for 1957 was unanimously adopted after several increases over the original budget drawn up by the finance committee in November. The increases included: $100 for youth activities to help in the new youth forum and teen canteen program at the church; $100 for equipment for Christian education and youth work; $300 for Christian evangelism in the community; $600 for the purchase of a new electric mimeograph machine. This made a total budget adopted $27,662.

The Rev. Mr. Crossland reported that the congregation would be 100 years old June 8, 1959 and steps, possibly centering around the Christian education building program will shortly be taken for a celebration.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the Amicitia Circle of the United Lutheran Church Women.

16 Feared Dead

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 24 (AP)—Sixteen persons are presumed dead in the crash of a two-engine Nicaraguan airliner on Mt. Concepcion. All were believed to have been Nicaraguans. Rescue crews in helicopters flew over the crash scene, an active volcano on Ometepe Island in Lake Nicaragua. They saw no sign of life.

Lutherans Will Welcome New Members Sunday

Saugerties, Jan. 24 — The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties will welcome eight new members into the congregation Sunday at 8 and 11 a. m., services the Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor announced.

The new members are: Richard Reinhart of Lake Katrine and his mother, Mrs. Thelma Reinhart; Miss Dolores Reilly of Cedar Grove; Mrs. Marie Potocko of Barclay Heights; Mrs. Anthony Byer of West Saugerties; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hauck of Mt. Marion Park and Mrs. Johanna Laumer of Ulster avenue. These eight adults with the six children will bring the baptised membership of the congregation to 630.

The Rev. Mr. Crossland, at the annual congregational meeting held Tuesday evening, said that the goal for new adult members for 1957 is a minimum of 125, which should easily be reached. It is expected that new members will be received each month and the largest amount of new members will join as a result of the Lutheran Evangelism Mission when it comes to the Hudson Valley in April.

New members will again be received Sunday, Feb. 24.

The dacron uniform for waitresses, beauticians and nurses cuts down on work and makes life generally easier. It needs little ironing, is wrinkle-resistant and can be washed by hand or in a machine.

Re-Checking Murder

Boston, Jan. 24 — Detectives from the state attorney general's office today reportedly were re-investigating the three-year-old murder of Melvin Clark, for which his widow is serving life. Published reports said the detectives began the new investigation 10 days ago, coinciding with the release of Arthur G. Jackson after serving more than two years in jail for adultry with Mrs. Clark. Two operatives from the attorney general's office spent two hours yesterday copying records of the Clark case in the office of the clerk of the Superior Court of Salem.

Briefly Told

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—A 13-state alarm is out for a machinist wanted for questioning in connection with the fatal shooting of a former boxer.

The victim, Frankie Palermo, 28, was shot to death Tuesday night in a candy store in the Bronx. Palermo had been working as a bartender.

Being sought for questioning is Vincent Spano, 27 of the Bronx, employed at the Curtiss-Wright plant in Wood-Ridge, N. J. Police said Spano did not go home Tuesday night and did not show up for work yesterday.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—The County Highway Superintendents Assn. has complained that county road needs have been "entirely forgotten."

F. Ray Williams of Saratoga Springs, the association's legislative chairman, said yesterday the temporary state commission on highway finance had made recommendations to Gov. Harriman on county highways.

Williams said the association had written Harriman that "nothing has been done" and asked the governor to "follow through."

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. says problems of New York schools could make their next 15 years "a lost weekend."

He urged businessmen and educators at a meeting yesterday to join in helping to overcome problems resulting from increased enrollments.

The commissioner said "there is a high correlation between the level of private enterprise."

He said current difficulties included a need for more teachers and for better schools.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—The New York Telephone Co. says its rates have lagged far behind an overall increase in the cost of living.

Company officials testified yesterday at a Public Service Commission hearing on the utility's bid for a $55,400,000 annual rate boost.

Paul O. Gunslaus, an assistant vice president, said the proposed increase would bring to 28 per cent the total boost in rates since the end of World War 2. The overall cost of living increased 96 per cent in that period, Gunslaus said.

Auto Inspection Notices to Alert Old Car Owners

Albany, Jan. 24—The State Bureau of Motor Vehicles Friday will mail inspection-due notices to 60,000 owners of 1938 or older model motor vehicles scheduled for February inspection.

The postcard notices are the first to be sent in connection with the State's new vehicle inspection program which starts February 1.

The inspections will be staggered over a 10 months' period of the year according to model year of the vehicle, starting with the oldest ones.

Notices Based on 1956

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said the notices are based on 1956 motor vehicle registration lists.

Failure of a motorist to receive the mailed notice does not relieve the vehicle owner of the responsibility for getting the vehicle inspected on time, Commissioner Kelly said.

The cards now ready for the mails go to owners of vehicles which must be checked in February. Late in Feburary, notices will be mailed to owners of 1939 and 1940 models, due for the four-point safety check in March.

The new inspection program applies this year to 1952 and older models. In addition, starting next May 1, the 1953 and newer used cars will have to be inspected if sold or transferred.

Garages Licensed

Inspections by State-licensed privately-owned garages will cover brakes, lights, steering and wheel alignment. When a vehicle passes, an inspection sticker goes on the lower right hand corner of the windshield and the registration renewal stub is stamped.

Owner of a rejected vehicle has 10 days in which to get it repaired and obtain the sticker. Failure to have a vehicle inspected in its scheduled month will result in suspension of registration plates.

Old Mill

State College, Pa. (AP)—A 175-year-old grist mill, used to grind flour and once a vital part of this area's economy, is still in operation. A turbine has replaced the old water wheel and modern equipment the stone grinding wheels, but the mill is still pretty much the same. It gets its power from Pine Creek just as it did in the 1780s.

Bodies of Children, 7, Found in River

Cranford, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—After a 28-hour search, workers have found the bodies of two 7-year-old children drowned in the chill Rahway river.

Police, firemen and volunteers yesterday broke through the river ice with pneumatic hammers and last night recovered the bodies of Philip Harrington and Martha Johnson.

They and Martha's brother, Richard, 9, failed to return home from school on Tuesday. The hunt for Richard continued today.

The bodies were frozen and their arms outstretched. Police said the youngsters apparently fell through a soft spot in the ice near a dam a quarter mile away and were carried upstream by currents.

Police Chief Lester W. Powell said he believes Richard's body is in the same general area where the others were found under the South avenue bridge.

Arrive in New Delhi

New Delhi, Jan. 24 (AP)—Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov arrived in New Delhi an hour apart today.

Prime Minister Nehru came to the airport to receive Chou informally but, as is his custom with visitors of lesser rank, was not on hand to greet Zhukov.

Zhukov is on an 18-day goodwill mission. Chou, heading homeward from Moscow, Warsaw, Budapest and Afghanistan, is having his third visit with Nehru in as many months.

The Chinese premier leaves early tomorrow to visit Nepal.

Short Hop

Bluefield, W. Va. (AP)—When a Piedmont Airlines plane delayed its takeoff from Mercer County Airport, the pilot provided the explanation: "Deplaning bullfrogs." Two frogs being shipped to Huntington somehow got loose and were jumping around in the baggage compartment. The flight was held up for quite some time while the crew caught the frogs.

5 Residents . . .

the majority of volunteer units were active.

First units sent out on the telephone call were Engine 1 and Truck 1, Central station; Engine 2, Cornell, Engine 3 and Truck 2, Wiltwyck and Wicks Salvage. Responding to the first alarm were Union and Rapid Hose companies. Answering the second alarm were Cordts Hose Company, which went to the fire, and Excelsior Hose Company, which covered at Central station.

Lt. Robert F. Murphy was in charge of policemen at the fire. Lieutenant William J. Leonard and William H. Messing were also there along with patrolmen Gerald Every, John Frasch, Raymond Wells, Albert Hutton, Gurnsey Burger Jr., Anthony Turck, Ira Hadsel and Garvin Fisher. Lt. Murphy commended the men for their work at the fire.

Greff Allen, Deerfield Beach, Fla., is listed as owner of the building, and Mrs. Mary Gross as operator of the nursing home.

Attracted by Dog

Mrs. Gross, authorities said, was sleeping on the second floor, and her daughter Edna Gross, on duty on the first floor, told police that she heard a dog barking at about 6 a. m. She looked out a back door, she said, and saw flames shooting out of a first-floor room at the rear.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Scott, employes, were sleeping on a third floor, and assisted in getting others to safety.

Mrs. Pearl VanHorn, of Sleightsburg, telephoned The Freeman, to report that the West Chestnut street nursing home is not listed with the New York State Nursing Home Association.

No Specific Report

Police indicated that an investigation was under way to determine the origin of the fire, but had nothing specific to report this afternoon.

A bomb, believed to be a souvenir of either World War 1 or 2, was reported found in the house, and police indicated that it figures in the investigation to determine, if it could have in any way figured in the fire. It was due to be inspected by an expert from West Point, but from what authorities know, at this point, it is likely to turn out to be nothing more than a souvenir.

A police patrol car, parked near the scene of the fire, was damaged when it rolled down the West Chestnut street hill and hit a tree.

Firemen and policemen expressed their thanks to Mrs. Shirley Stone and Miss Dorothy Vaughan of 15 West Chestnut street for their assistance at the fire in serving coffee.

The text of today's terse announcement from Strauss:

"The Soviets yesterday conducted another nuclear weapons test in their current series which has been resumed since the announcement of a Soviet test was made by the United States on Nov. 17, 1956."

School Bill Due

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower will send to Congress next Monday a special message renewing his plea for more than one billion dollars for public school construction in the next four years.

The White House announced the date today but gave no details of the proposal. However, the budget now before Congress provides for a $1,300,000,000 program of aid to the states.

The Egyptian pyramids were built between 300 and 1800 B. C.

World News in Brief

Forces Dulles Action

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) demanded today that Secretary of State Dulles submit an official "white paper" justifying his conduct of American foreign policy in the Middle East.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) backed Fulbright's move as a means of forcing Dulles to explain more clearly to Congress why special military-economic authority is needed to deal with Communist threats in the Mideast.

Fulbright voiced his demand as senators were questioning Dulles on the administration's program.

Dulles had pleaded particularly that Congress give President Eisenhower a free hand to spend 200 million dollars on military and economic aid to Middle East nations.

Israel Stands Fast

United Nations, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP) — Rival Israel-Egyptian positions on a Middle East settlement hardened today as the midnight deadline neared for Israel's troop withdrawal from Egypt and the Gaza strip.

Israel again told the UN it would not quit the Mediterranean coastal strip and the area controlling the Gulf of Aqaba without concrete guarantees of protection.

That continuing stand was seen in Cairo as an urgent sign the UN must act swiftly to avert another violent explosion in the Middle East. Egypt and the other nations of the Asian-African bloc expected to demand that the UN impose economic penalties on Israel to force withdrawal from the two areas on the Egyptian side of the 1949 armistice line.

Guard Opposes Training for New Enlistees

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—National guard chiefs of nearly all the states reject the Pentagon plan to require six months training for all new guard enlistees starting April 1.

They want youths under the age of 18½ years—which is the draft minimum—let off with an 11 weeks course that would fit into a school vacation.

Vote Unanimous

A spokesman said the vote was unanimous yesterday at a meeting here attended by adjutants general and other national guard general officers from 47 states and territories.

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the National Guard Assn. which sponsored the meeting, proposed the alternative 11 weeks plan for guardsmen from 17 to 18½ years old. He said it will be pushed in Congress when a House Armed Services Subcommittee starts hearings Feb. 4 on reserve programs.

Walsh has contended the six months training requirement, which already applies to recruits in other reserve components, would wreck guard recruiting.

Not Acceptable

An association spokesman said the organization "does not feel the six months program has proved acceptable to a point where adequate numbers of youths will volunteer for reserve or national guard service."

The six months rule, under the guard officials' proposal, would apply to enlistees past the age of 18½.

The 11 weeks plan for younger recruits will be considered at a meeting of the executive council of the National Guard Assn. here Saturday and Sunday.

Blue Ribbon Jury To Try Cabbie's Death

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—A blue ribbon grand jury will be sought for the trial of a former Ohio convict and three others charged with slaying a New York cab driver.

Bronx Asst. Dist. Atty. Andrew C. McCarthy yesterday announced plans to seek such a jury, made up of professional people and those who have had previous jury experience.

Those to be tried are Leroy Keith, 42, of the Bronx; James T. Morris, 22, of Riverhead, N. Y.; Dorothy Chaney, 24, a singer, of Manhattan, and Betty Jean Ward, 18, a dancer, of Manhattan, all Negroes.

The four are charged in the shooting death of David Suro, a taxi driver of Jersey City, N. J., during a holdup attempt while Suro was on duty in his taxi here.

Woodstock News

By RICHARD E. THIBAULT, JR.

Polio Victim Thanks National Foundation

Woodstock, Jan. 24 — Mrs. Richard Chambers of Woodstock who was stricken with polio on Sept. 13, 1955, had expressed her deep appreciation for the magnificent assistance given her.

"This is something very close to my heart," she said. "First of all, I want to tell you a true story that profoundly changed a man's way of thinking. This man on the first day of the drive for the March of Dimes was caught trying to rob a collection box in a small store. When he came up before the judge for sentence, instead of the usual fine or few days in jail, he was sent under escort to visit a polio center. What he saw there moved him so deeply that he came away pledged to do all he could in the fight against this dread disease."

Mrs. Chambers described what he would have seen had he come to the center where she was treated.

"There are eleven of us in our large sunny ward—men, women and children; bound together by the common bond of polio in all stages of slow recovery. Here you will see iron lungs, chest respirators, and rocking beds, all the mechanism to keep people with total or partial respiration paralysis alive and comfortable.

"Those we fondly call 'the well ones,' will be sitting in wheel chairs, typing, reading, painting, or just chatting with each other. At meal time, those who can feed themselves, with or without aid of slings sit around a large and friendly table out in the nurses' station. Those of us who are less fortunate are fed by a team of aides, nurses and orderlies.

"Every day," she continued, "physical therapists work with patients in the gymnasium or in the ward. Paralyzed limbs must be kept limber and those with a little motion must be encouraged to grow stronger. The mind must be catered to as well as the body. One of our greatest joys is being able to read. Even those of us who can move nothing but a head or a finger can trigger a switch on a roller type reading rack."

Speaking of the recreation provided, Mrs. Chambers said that in the evening "if we have no company, there is always television. No sound issues from the set, for pillow loud speakers carry the sound to each bed."

During the course of treatment there are many hazards for the patient. "Kidney stones and chest colds," she related, "are the two troubles we have to contend with most. Here again, we have the latest equipment to help us. Coughing machines, positive pressure domes help us during these hard times."

"These are the material things of life contributed by the March of Dimes," she continued, "but greater perhaps by far is the expert medical care and the peace of mind this brings to our families and loved ones.

"No one, not even the wealthiest of us could carry the tremendous financial burden of this long-term illness, without the aid of the March of Dimes. Our gratitude to those who contribute is boundless. The Salk vaccine has licked polio for our children but for many years to come there will still be mililons who need help. So, give as generously as you can to the 1957 March of Dimes campaign."

"Thank you from the bottom of my heart for myself," she concludes, "my family, my friends and all my fellow patients."

Mrs. Chambers, who plans to return to her new home in Woodstock soon, is the mother of two sons, Robin Hall, 7, and Kim Hall, 5.

Hunt Continues For Plane, Crew

Rome, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—An air-ground search continued today for an Air Force tanker plane that disappeared Tuesday night with its crew of seven.

The downed plane was believed to be in the snow-covered Adirondack mountains, where overnight temperatures fell below zero.

Search Through Night

Eight planes from Griffiss Air Force Base near here searched through the night on the possibility any survivors had lit a fire.

The ground search was suspended from nightfall to dawn.

The KC-97 tanker last was heard from over Griffiss, its destination after a training flight from Westover Air Force Base, Mass. Griffiss control tower told the plane by radio Tuesday at 7:45 p. m. to leave the approach pattern over the field and let another plane land first.

There has been no further contact with the tanker.

Eleven planes and 12 helicopters participated in the search today.

Ground teams kept to mountain roads as they sought the plane's location. A foot of snow remained in the dense woods.

Student Is Suicide; Driver Injured as Auto Hits Sign

In Ulster county Wednesday afternoon a 17-year-old junior at Kingston High School died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, a Saugerties man was treated for injuries after the accelerator of his car broke and the vehicle smashed into a sign, and a Kingston youth was arrested on a charge of "endangering" after the car he was driving went out of control and struck a utility pole.

Paul William Roggenkamp, who lived with Mr. and Mrs. Achilles Collodi who reside in the Citation Homes development on the Mt. Marion road between Ruby and Lake Katrine was found lying on his bed shortly before 1 p. m. by three younger children of the Collodis when they returned home from school. Paul is the son of Mrs. Collodi by a former marriage.

Troopers Notified

Thinking the young man had hurt himself, the children ran to a nearby home where August P. Grommol of New Salem road, Kingston, a plumber, was working. Mr. Grommol stopped a passing motorist, Harry J. Mack, of Mt. Marion, who notified Kingston state police.

Dispatched to the scene were Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, and Troopers Bill Shurter, Robert Chura and Charles Teelon.

They found young Roggenkamp dead of a bullet wound in the left temple above and forward of the left ear. The wound had been inflicted by a Remington .22 calibre bolt-action rifle.

Left Note

By the youth's side was a suicide note saying that he was taking his life because of poor grades in school and other personal reasons, troopers told The Freeman.

Coroner Michael A. Galietta issued a verdict of death due to a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head.

Troopers said the youth was found by Barron, 8, Michael Ralph, 6, and Karen, 7, the three Collodi children, who had a half a day of school. Paul had no school, it was reported.

The younger children left for school, taking the school bus about 7:45 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Collodi left a short time later for work.

Time of the youth's death was estimated at approximately 9:40 a. m.

The Collodi family had moved to Kingston recently from Chicago and had just purchased a home in the Citation development. No other relatives live in the area.

Paul transferred to Kingston High School from Onteora Central School on Nov. 5, 1956. According to his transcript of record, he attended school in Waverly, Illinois, before coming East.

Funeral Friday

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 650 Delaware avenue, with the Rev. William McVey, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Cremation will follow in the Gardner Earl Memorial Crematorium, Troy. Friends may call at the funeral parlors between 7 and 9 p. m. today.

Ernest W. Anderson, 28, of 96 Washington avenue, Saugerties, suffered a laceration of the left eye and lacerations and bruises of the mouth about 5 p. m. when the accelerator of his 1953 sedan broke and the vehicle went out of control, crossing the highway, striking a sign and running up a small embankment.

The mishap occurred on Route 9W three miles north of Kingston, according to Trooper Chura of the Kingston state police. Trooper Chura said he was traveling north on Route 9W at the time. He was treated at Benedictine Hospital and released.

Held on Charge

Ronald John Sahloff, 17, of 33 Lawrence street, was arrested by Trooper Chura on a charge of "endangering" after a 1956 sedan he was driving on the Old King's Highway at Mt. Marion went out of control and skidded 200 feet into a utility pole.

The trooper said young Sahloff was traveling west on the Mt. Marion road when he attempted to make a sharp left turn, left the right side of the highway and skidded into the pole.

With him in the car were Lois Every, 15, of 170 First avenue, Edward Coughswell, 16, of 68 Delaware avenue, and Juanita Boughton, 15, of 159 First avenue.

None were injured, Trooper Chura reported. Sahloff was issued a summons returnable before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of Saugerties on Wednesday, Jan. 30.

Late Bulletin

Plane Is Found

Rome, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—An air force KC-97 tanker plane, missing since Tuesday night, was found today at Atwell, Herkimer county. State Police at Alder creek, site of the search headquarters, said the ill-fated craft was spotted by a helicopter.

There were no immediate signs of life State Police said.

Atwell is in a remote section of the Adirondack mountains near North Lake.

State Police said a rescue party started out immediately in hope there might be survivors.

33 Refugees Get State Hospital Jobs

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Thirty-Three Hungarian refugees have been given jobs in Harlem Valley State Hospital at Wingdale, Gov. Harriman said today.

The refugees, 28 men and five women, were interviewed this week at Camp Kilmer, N. J., by officials of the State Mental Hygiene Department. They arrived at the hospital last night.

Harriman said their employment was the first under a plan to recruit such refugees as state hospital personnel.

He said they were "badly needed" in many areas. The group, most of whom are in their 20s, will work as ward attendants.

Bell Has System

forces familiar with this project," he continued, "are emphatically convinced that it is superior to any landing aid device now used in commercial aviation."

Faneuf said that last week at the Niagara Falls airport a naval officer was landed in a navy jet airplane by the remote control system during a blinding snow storm.

Smooth Landing

The pilot reported that he could not have seen his way in with the weather as it was and that the actual landing was smoother than he propably would have been able to make in clear weather.

Faneuf said the company's research program will include a research center named in honor of Lawrence D. Bell, founder of the company who died last year.

Other projects, he said, will include an ultra-modern electronic computer and data processing center; a large engineering research and development building together with new laboratories; and a modern development manufacturing shop.

He did not say how soon actual construction of the new units would start.

Autopsy Fails To Show Cause Of Girls' Deaths

Chicago, Jan. 24 (AP) — Police confounded by the mystery killing of two teen-aged girls checked into a restaurant owner's report today that she had seen the girls with one of her dishwashers.

Mrs. Minnie Duros, operator of a restaurant at 1340 Madison street, said she knew the man only as "Benny" and that she had seen him with Barbara Grimes, 15, and her sister, Patricia, 13, about three weeks ago. They disappeared from home Dec. 28.

Found Tuesday

The girls' nude bodies were found along a roadway Tuesday. A five-hour examination of the bodies yesterday failed to yield the cause of their deaths.

Mrs. Duros told newsmen that Sheriff Joseph Lohman appeared at her place last night with Benny. She identified him as the man with whom she had seen the girls, she said, and Lohman drove off.

The sheriff later announced that Bennie Bedwill, 21, was the man named by Mrs. Duros and that he had been picked up for questioning.

Mrs. Duros said she recognized the girls from newspaper photographs. She said the girl resembling Barbara "looked drunk, sick or doped" and that the other girl "looked like she had been drinking, but was not sick."

The woman said the girls left the restaurant with the man. She placed the time at about 5:30 a. m. on Dec. 30.

Lohman said Bedwill readily acknowledged he was in the restaurant on that date but said the girls were not the Grimes sisters. He gave police the names of the girls he said accompanied him. Police planned to look for the girls.

Bedwill wears Elvis Presley type sideburns and told police he comes from Tennessee, the singer's home state. The Grimes sisters were avid Elvis Presley fans and had attended a Presley movie the night they disappeared.

Flemming to Quit

joined the Eisenhower "team."

The defense mobilization post, while not a cabinet position, has cabinet rank. Its holder sits in cabinet meetings and is, by law, a member of the National Security Council.

Gray is highly regarded by members of both political parties, and hence his confirmation in the new post by the Senate is not expected to be delayed. Gray, a 47-year-old native of Baltimore, was president of the University of North Carolina when President Eisenhower brought him back into government service in the summer of 1955.

In the Truman administration Gray also served as director of the Psychological Strategy Board, the forerunner of the Operations Coordinating Board. He resigned as secretary of the army in 1950 to become president of the University of North Carolina.

Gray was reared in North Carolina and was educated at the State University and at Yale, where he received a law degree.

He has been president of the Piedmont Publishing Co. and publisher of the Winston-Salem (N.C.) Journal and the Twin City Sentinel. He served two years in the North Carolina Senate, and relinquished his seat in 1941 to enlist in the army as a private. During the war he rose to the rank of captain. Gray was married in 1938 to Jane Boyden Craige, of Winston-Salem. She died of a heart ailment in 1943.

Tough Breaks

Milwaukee (AP) — The Clifford Miron family was the victim of two bad breaks recently. Miron slipped on some ice and broke his left leg. While he was traveling home from the hospital, his 2-year-old son, Alan, tumbled from a living room chair and fractured his right leg.

Woodstock Hears

engine type of bus.

He pointed out that the School Board consists of nine members, and there exists a "gentlemen's agreement" or verbal understanding that each town has three board members, and there has been no break in the agreement for nine years. The district now encompasses the town of Glenford which is also entitled to representation, and so it will be with any new districts added.

Explains Aid

Discussing the question of state aid, Mr. Gordon said that the Onteora district was a "flat grant district" which deceives the lowest amount of $125 per pupil. More money he explained is paid per pupil to poorer districts and less to the richer, to which Onteora belongs with an assessed value of $59,000,000. Breaking it down he said that there was $47,000 worth of true property behind every child in attendance.

In Use Every Night

He noted that the Onteora Central School is in every sense a "Community School" which is used practically every night in the week by clubs, the P-TA, or the adult education program. Any person may partake of the adult education program, with no enrollment fee, the expenses born by the taxpayers in the school budget.

There are a total of 64 people at present on the staff which operates on a salary schedule.

Since the present school building is now overcrowded, the Board proposed the idea of regional schools to take care of the pupils from kindergarten through sixth grades. One large advantage of the program, he explained, would be the minimization of transportation for younger children and assure them a better education.

Shows Drawings

Mr. Gordon showed a proposed architect's plan for possible additions to the Woodstock School to include 14 rooms. He made note of the fact that the board had taken an option on property in Bearsville which would be used as the site of a regional school only if annexation of the Woodstock district does not take place.

"We attempt to offer better educational opportunities to our children at Onteora," he concluded. "We who are parents should forget our petty differences and think always of the youth."

Principal Speaks

Mr. Moehle, supervising principal of Onteora, explained that the school had received when it opened a Regents Charter, or M-3, which meant that it was not a full high school. In May 1954, the school received its six-year school charter granted by the Board of Regents. In order to qualify it meant that the school had to meet the physical types of facilities specified, that it had the necessary number of trained personnel, and that it offered an enriched and integrated program, which many schools do not have. Since that time, he said, the school has progressed beyond that level and that supervisors from the state are constantly analyzing the program.

Before the meeting Onteora Welcome Kits were distributed to which parents were able to refer as Mr. Moehle described the facilities offered by the school including the library which meets state requirements, the health program, the complete guidance program, the art program, the citizenship education program, and the language program.

Children, he disclosed, are grouped according to their abilities. A small group of precocious children are placed in the excellerated program group. It is planned that in their senior year they will start some college level courses as a part of the "enriched" program, which includes such subjects as creative writing, journalism, mathematics and science, chemistry and physics, provided they have the ability to be placed in the group.

The school has a complete music program and the policy is to provide musical instruments free of charge. They now have a band, a junior band, an elementary band, a chorus and a new musical group has been started with strings—25 youngsters playing violins. There is an honor society, a student council and a cafeteria is provided.

"We have a good staff of teachers," Mr. Moehle said, "and each year the staff is upgraded."

A lively question period followed with many aspects of the situation discussed, including the possible disposition of the present Woodstock School bond issue, the scope of the Onteora program as compared to a larger school, and the length of time it would require for the district to accommodate Woodstock pupils.

Governor Urges All-Out Drive For Polio Shots

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Gov. Harriman today announced an all-out drive for free anti-polio innoculation of New Yorkers, especially those under 40, before the start of the polio season next summer.

The state health commissioner, Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, estimated the program would cost 15 million dollars. The state would pay about 5 or 6 million and local governments most of the rest.

The governor told a news conference that the state "still has a sizeable job" to do if it is to protect New York residents against polio next summer.

work has been completed and presently over 300 services have been connected to the new water system, Supervisor Bush said.

There remains some work to be completed in the spring when roads and streets which were damaged in the construction will be put in shape. Some minor work is to be completed on the system before finale acceptance by the district.

Supervisor Bush said more customers would hook up to the system in the spring, after the contractor has completed the work and the system is ready for final acceptance by the water district.

Nasser Warns West on Moves In Gaza, Gulf

Hong Kong, Jan. 24 (AP)—Egypt's President Nasser has told Chinese newsmen any attempt by the western powers to "internationalize" the Gaza area and the Gulf of Aqaba "would lead to new trouble."

The Communist New China News Agency, reporting an interview Nasser gave Chinese reporters, said the Egyptian leader also declared:

Says Plan Vague

1. He would give his views on the Eisenhower Middle East plan after the United States had given further explanation. He described the plan as vague.

2. Britain had attacked the Yemen because it joined with free Arab countries six months ago.

3. The recent agreement on Jordan between Arab heads of state would help Arab countries "in opposing foreign interference."

To Visit Peiping

4. He plans to visit China this summer.

The Red agency's report quoted Nasser as saying proposals to internationalize the Gaza area and the Gulf of Aqaba coast 'mean supporting aggression and giving benefits to aggressors. These areas are Egyptian territory and any interference in Egyptian territory is a violation of Egypt's sovereignty which we oppose completely."

Only the western coast of the Aqaba gulf is actually Egyptian territory. The Gaza Strip was occupied by Egypt under the terms of the 1949 Palestine armistice, but its ultimate disposition was left to the peace treaty between Israel and the Arabs which the Arabs have refused to negotiate.

Fish Fertilization

Egyptian farmers place fish in the water covering their rice crops. The fish swim through the fields eating insects and weeds, and waste matter from them fertilizes the soil.

SALUTE ROYAL BIRTH IN MONACO—Palace guardsmen fire salute from parapet of royal palace at Monaco Jan. 23 to herald birth of Princess Caroline to Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace. Birth of the 8-pound, 2-ounce girl to the former film actress drew 21-gun salute whereas birth of a boy would have rated 101 guns. (AP Photo by radio from London)

Monacans Rejoice, Celebrations Are Many Over Birth of Grace Kelly's Daughter

Monte Carlo, Jan. 24 (AP) — Princess Grace's doctors said she could get out of bed for an hour this afternoon, less than 30 hours after the birth of her first child.

The palace physicians announced the former Hollywood movie star would be allowed up at increasingly frequent intervals after her first time on her feet. The doctors had said earlier the princess would be up and about in two or three days.

Princess Grace and her baby, Princess Caroline, were reported in excellent condition. The 26-year-old mother spent a quiet night. The blue-eyed, dark-haired baby slept in the royal crib at her bedside from midnight until 6 a. m., without waking.

The happy and weary father, Prince Rainier III, went to bed early last night, but the rest of Monaco rocked 'n' rolled throughout the night to celebrate the arrival of the royal baby. The celebration continued today, with folk dancing and bands playing in the public square before the palace.

Rainier finally appeared for 10 minutes on the palace balcony this morning to wave to about 1,000 merrymakers below. The crowd gave a scattered round of cheers.

During most of his appearance the prince was solemn and unsmiling, but he applauded the folk dancers.

The rejoicing residents and visitors in this 367-acre principality on the Riviera gathered in a singing and dancing throng before the palace early last night. They lit a bonfire and shouted "long live the prince—long live the princess!" far into the night.

The people shouted repeatedly for Rainier, but he did not appear on the palace balcony. He had kept a vigil with his mother-in-law, Mrs. John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, outside the palace delivery room from 3 a. m. until the baby arrived at 9:27 a. m. He was in a swirl of royal activity for the rest of the day and decided to turn in early.

The palace square was decorated gaily with the same red and white flagpoles that were put up last April when the Prince married the American movie star. Yachts in the tiny port were lit like Christmas trees.

After yelling themselves hoarse, the Monacans scattered into cafes and other night spots around the principality. They danced Rock N' Roll, Mambo, and almost every other gay kind of dance. The dawn advanced and so did the celebrating. The swank night club in the famous gambling casino was packed.

Today was a national holiday in recognition of the royal birth. The holiday applies to almost everyone except the croupiers at the casino. Celebrations will continue until the baby's baptism, expected within a month.

Reds to Command Syrian Squadrons

Jerusalem, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Jerusalem Post said today Syria will soon have several squadrons of MIG17 jet fighters and two Soviet-equipped armored divisions.

The usually well informed newspaper said both will be commanded by Russians.

"For a start," the Post added, the Soviets will send some 250 or 300 instructors to Syria to handle training with the new weapons. It said Russian tanks, armored cars and guns will be supplied to the two armored divisions.

"There will also be numerous torpedo boats from the Black Sea and a small 'sample' submarine," the newspaper reported.

Speidel to Take Over

Bonn, Germany, Jan. 24 (AP)—The West German Defense Ministry today announced Lt. Gen. Hans Speidel soon will take over command of NATO's central European land forces. He would be the first German officer to be given a top command in the Atlantic Alliance. Speidel, 59, served as Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's chief of staff on the western front during the allied invasion in 1944. He was arrested by the Gestapo after the July 20, 1944, bomb plot on Hitler's life and held in prison until freed by French troops in April 1945.

Good Old Days

Clements, Minn. (AP) — The rural mail carrier service has been mechanized and streamlined since Benjamin H. Wolhford first started making the rounds 44 years ago. But Wolhford retired with the thought that maybe the horse and buggy days were better after all. "Those horses seemed to know which mail boxes to stop for," he observed.

State Car Inspection Law

(Fourth in a Series)

It is estimated that of the 5,000,000 passenger cars and trucks registered in New York state, approximately 3,000,000 will be subject to the periodic inspection law in 1957.

The law requires that all motor vehicles over four years old (manufacturer's year of 1952 or earlier) must pass inspection this year in a schedule starting February 1.

In addition, starting May 1, every used vehicle four or less years old must pass inspection at time of sale or transfer in order to be registered—unless it already has a valid sticker from a voluntary inspection.

All types of motor vehicles are affected, including passenger cars, trucks, tractors, trailers (except trailers weighing 1,000 pounds or less unloaded), suburbans, taxis, ambulances, and motor vehicles or trailers of non-resident seasonal farm laborers.

Excluded from the program are motorcycles, vehicles "inspected by, operating under and displaying a certificate of inspection authorized by the Public Service Commission or Interstate Commerce Commission," fire and police vehicles, vehicles of a municipally owned and operated transit system, farm vehicles registered to operate only between sections of a farm under common ownership, and such equipment as road building machines, road rollers, farm shovels, snow plows, etc.

6,000 Licensed Stations

Six thousand or more garages and service stations throughout the state are expected to be licensed as official inspection stations to do the job.

To eliminate deadline congestion and delays, and so that all vehicles subject to the law can be inspected in ample time before registration begins for 1958, the Bureau of Motor Vehicles has adopted a schedule of inspections covering ten months of the year. Post cards reminding owners when to appear for inspection will be mailed, according to present plans of the Bureau, but in every case it will be the responsibility of the owner to make certain his vehicle is inspected on time, whether or not he receives a notice.

The 1957 schedule, which begins in February and runs through November, is as follows: 1938 and older models, February; 1939-40 models, March; 1941-45 models, April; 1946, May; 1947, June; 1948, July; 1949, August; 1950, September; 1951, October, and 1952, November.

Vehicles of a later model year than 1952 may be inspected at any time during the year on a voluntary basis.

However, a vehicle over four years old must be inspected during its scheduled month unless it passed a voluntary inspection in the preceding month. Vehicles not inspected on schedule will be subject to registration suspension and, after January 1, 1958, it will be a criminal offense to operate a vehicle which is subject to the law unless it has an inspection sticker.

If you have a vehicle over four years old and it is outside of the state during the entire month in which it is scheduled for inspection, you may obtain an extension of time by making written application to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles. The extension notice you receive from the Motor Vehicle Bureau must then be carried on the vehicle and displayed to any police officer in this state on request. The inspection must be made when the vehicle is returned to the state and before the extension expires.

New Residents

If the owner of a vehicle subject to the law moves into New York from another state which has vehicle inspection, the inspection sticker of the other jurisdiction will be accepted and will be valid until the end of the period in which the New York regulations require inspection, or until the expiration date of the out-of-state certificate, whichever occurs first.

The owner of a vehicle who moves into the state from one which does not have inspection must have the vehicle inspected in order to get New York registration plates, even though the month assigned to that vehicle has passed.

Because of the tremendous volume of inspection work to be done, and because time must be allowed to make any adjustments or repairs needed to get the sticker, all motor vehicle owners are advised to get inspections made as early as possible during the scheduled month. If repairs or adjustments are necessary, the owner has 10 days in which to get the work done and have the car re-inspected so as to obtain the required sticker.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

I am a Libertarian.

A Libertarian is a man who has the common sense to conserve all good things while doing away with worn-out things. He doesn't toss everything on the scrap heap. He wants to preserve freedom and limited government. He thinks these should be kept. Hence he is a Conservative.

MR. HUTTON

Let's state it this way. All trees in the forest have equal rights but they don't grow to equal heights! It would be foolish to cut the tall trees down to the size of the small trees. If so, where are the big timbers for big jobs?

It is equally foolish that Big Business should be reduced to Little Business. Nature cannot lift up small trees and make them as high as big trees. Neither can man. Let both small and big grow from their own roots to the size nature intends for each.

Equality, therefore, cannot mean that everybody should be the same size. It means the opportunity for all to rise to the heights their capacity and venturesome spirit entitle them. All people should have the equal right to grow to unequal size. Then you have Big League and Minor League baseball—and business. Our people should be free to solve their own problems within their Constitutional limitations.

Yes, neighbor, I'm a Conservative, or a Libertarian!

Weekly Food Review

By The Associated Press

Roast beef and chicken will be featured in many of the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood stores this weekend.

The beef items, ranging from chuck to sirloin and porterhouse, are no surprise, for beef prices have been low lately. Indications are, in fact, that beef eaters can expect to have their favorite meat often in the next few weeks, for it's expected to remain plentiful and cheap.

Push on Chickens

The big splurge on chickens by the supermarket meat experts is more unexpected, although chickens actually have not been in short supply for some time. They're advertised this week for stewing and frying both. Normally, the big push on fowl comes during the summer months.

Turkey, ham and lamb also will be featured as bargain specials by some stores, but pork is conspicuously absent in most places. Reason: Price boosts in many areas, ranging from 2 cents to 10 cents and as much as 24 to 26 cents in certain places.

Combination deals also are popular. One chain, for example, has lamb for both chops and stew at 33 cents a pound. Another is tying together beef liver at 25 cents a pound and bacon at 49 cents a pound.

Cabbage Good Buy

The vegetable counters in most stores will present some familiar faces as the best buys—cabbage, onions and potatoes. Where cabbage is still available from nearby fields, it is rated an outstanding buy. Most of the cabbage, however, is the new crop from fields in Florida, Texas and Arizona.

Potatoes from the fall crops were a shade higher, but still a good buy. The start of the Florida crop is still light.

Beets, carrots, parsnips and white turnips, known to market men as the "hardware items," also are on the good buy list. So are peppers, sweet potatoes and iceberg lettuce, although the latter is slightly more expensive this week.

Broccoli and squash are reported somewhat lower this week, but still a trifle high for the bargain hunter. Corn falls into roughly the same category. Beans and celery, on the other hand, are reported more expensive this week, along with cauliflower.

Oranges, tangerines and lemons are reported the best buys among the fruits. Grapefruit also are good buys, but a bit more costly. Apples are mostly good, but well-ripened and at widely-ranging prices.

Williamsport, Pa. (AP) — A wheel from a truck rolled down a highway by itself and crashed through the door of a building. Police said they believed the wheel came free the truck without the driver's knowledge. The building was a service station.

Tillson

School Meeting Attended by 50

Tillson, Jan. 24 — A meeting sponsored by the Tillson Parent-Teachers Association to explain in detail the Greater Kingston Area Consolidation plan was held Tuesday night at the school auditorium. Approximately 50 persons attended.

Norman Hammond of Lake Katrine acted as chairman, and explained the proposed consolidation plan. He was assisted by other members of the steering committee for the consolidation, including Dr. Earl Soper of Kingston, Daniel Morehouse, Lake Katrine and Henry Hopper, elementary school supervisor, from Hurley.

The purpose of the meeting was to bring facts about the consolidation to the people, not hearsay or rumors. Also, the people were requested to discuss the plan with other people in the area, so that definite opinions could be formed. Any change in the formation of school districts, such as the one proposed, would be initiated by the people. In 1954, Mr. Hammond pointed out, a similar plan was proposed but the people were not in favor of it.

Many Factors

It was felt that now, with the increase of population, new industries in the area, the present over-crowded school conditions and the ever-increasing taxes, people are more in favor of a consolidation plan. He asked that the people first think of their children and education before considering the taxes . . . although the cost must be taken into consideration, too.

The people were advised that the residents of Kingston will vote whether or not they are interested in a consolidation plan, the same as the people in the proposed outside area will vote. Should the rural areas vote against it, it was said that a similar proposal could again be made in two years. Should that proposal be turned down, then it would be necessary to start from the beginning again because that proposal would become null and void.

An informational brochure was distributed to those present, and the data it contained was discussed in detail. The Tillson school would be one of seven rural elementary schools to be maintained, according to the present plan.

Signatures Asked

Following a question and answer period, those present were asked to sign a petition to the Commissioner of Education to set up a district for the purpose of calling for a vote for or against the proposed consolidation plan. Many of those present signed, and other petitions will be circulated throughout the local school district.

Kenneth Clark, former president of the Tillson board of education, remarked in effect that although the proposed plan did not offer everything he would like to see, it was the best thing yet offered and he believed, he said, that the people in this area should consider it favorably. Also in favor of the proposed plan was W. Kenneth Wakeley, president of the local board of education at the present time. Howard Mansfield, Tillson Civic Association leader, questioned some parts of the plan but commented that he favored it.

Tillson Civic Meeting

Tillson, Jan. 24—The regular monthly meeting of the Tillson Civic Association will be held Thursday, Jan. 31, at 8:30 p. m. at the Tillson firehall. All members and those interested in civic affairs are urged to attend this meeting.

Rosendale

Rosendale, Jan. 24—Episcopal church services for Rosendale, Tillson, Rifton and Bloomington area: Sunday, Jan. 27, 7:45 a. m., Holy communion, St. Peter's Stone Ridge. At St. John's High Falls, 9:30 a. m., nursery school, Sunday school and family Eucharist. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 a. m. at St. Peter's, Stone Ridge.

The regular monthly meeting of the Rosendale Parents Association of the Rosendale school was held Jan. 16 at the school. Plans were made for a pancake supper to be held next month, the date to be announced later. Other plans discussed included the raffle of a basket of groceries at Easter time, an apron sale, in March, and the fair later in the spring.

The class of 1960 at the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis will include 273 enlisted men from Navy and Marine Corps.

'Eleven Main' New Restaurant Here

The former Sea Grill Restaurant and New City Hotel, 11 Main street, which was badly damaged by fire April 27, 1956, has reopened under the name of Eleven Main.

The proprietors are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Matthews, who owned the Sea Grill.

The building has been completely renovated and the interior is constructed of Roman brick and walnut paneling with a variable lighting system.

A charcoal broiler, with an attending chef, is the center of the restaurant facilities.

A horseshoe bar and wall-to-wall carpeting also add to the decorum of the room. A year-round air conditioning system has been installed also.

Installment Taxes

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. (AP)—A pay-as-you-go installment plan for school taxation has been proposed by the Soo's school superintendent. Hugh H. Holloway says his plan would "take the pain out of supporting schools." The present system of paying the year's bill in December is "outmoded and not the least in style," he says.

One Down—Eight to Go

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—A cat is missing his whiskers; his paws are burned and his fur is singed. But better eight lives than none. He strolled, by mistake, through a 1,200-degree glassware kiln.

Minimum

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—The high cost of living has hit the coffee break in Atlantic City. The manager of a mid-town restaurant has adopted a 25-cent minimum after 9 a. m. "to break up the two-hour conversations on one cup of coffee."

Ambidextrous

Oklahoma City (AP)—Six-year-old Michael Sullivan had been worried about how he was going to cut his birthday cake since he broke his left arm and had to have it in a cast. Just before the party, he fell off a low fence and broke his right arm.

OFFICE CAT

Dizzy Dean, famous pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, and the game's most distinguished modest violet, has delivered himself of an autobiography. Ol' Diz, as he likes to call himself, is considerably more of a humorist than a lot of tired old gag men who make a living that way. He pops off in print and plays the buffoon for the same reason that led him to act that way on the ball field; he knows exactly what the public wants.

He divides his autobiography into four parts. Part One is entitled "Who's the Greatest Pitcher in the World?" Part Two is devoted to "Who's Got the Greatest Throwin' Arm in the World?" (Not Countin' Days it Was Sore and How it Got That Way.") Part Three discusses "Who's the Greatest Hitter in the World?" (When He Wants to Be.") The wind-up is the answer to "Who's the Greatest Pitcher-Runner in the World?" ("Not Countin' Days I Was Tired.") Diz demolishes "house dicks" (players who spend most of their time showing off in hotel lobbies) and "pebble pickers" (infielders who alibi fielding bobbles by picking up imaginary pebbles which, they indicate by pantomine, have caused the ball to take a crazy hop); he lingers lovingly (and who can blame him?) on the season when he and his brother Paul won forty-nine games between them for the Cards, and then went on to mow down the Detroit Tigers single- or double-handed in the World Series.

The Dean Dictionary should never have omitted the classic repartee that featured a tense spot in the first Series game at Detroit. The fans were riding him hard that day, and didn't like it at all when he struck out the entire side in one inning, and came swaggering to the bench. "If I was your wife," hollered one lady enthusiast, "I'd give you poison." "If I wuz your husband," snapped back Mr. Dean, "I'd take it!"

Boy—Heck, no.

Mother—Now, look, son, you wouldn't go to that dance without taking a bath, would you?

Boy — Why not? It's not formal.

Trapped by Slide

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 24 (AP)—A dozen workers dug fratically through tons of rock today, holding only a faint hope that a buried power shovel operator would be found alive. The man, Robert Floyd Hockenberry, 50, was trapped in a massive slide of limestone yesterday afternoon at a quarry operated by the Valley View Lime Co., about 10 miles from Bellefonte in a rugged mountain area of central Pennsylvania.

Prosecution Ends Hearing Against British Doctor

Eastbourne, England, Jan. 24 (AP)—The prosecution today concluded its case in the sensational murder hearing of Dr. John Bodkin Adams who is accused of drugging three wealthy patients to death for profit.

After the 44th and last prosecution witness left the stand, defense attorney Geoffrey Lawrence declared "with all the force at my command" that there had not been enough evidence to warrant committing Dr. Adams to trial before a judge and jury. Five magistrates have been conducting a preliminary hearing in the case.

The chubby, Irish-born physician is charged with the murder of Mrs. Edith Morrell, 81-year-old widow, in 1950. Scotland yard has accused Dr. Adams also of murdering Alfred John Hullett and his wife Gertrude Hullett.

The prosecution said Mrs. Morrell and Hullett were drugged to death and Mrs. Hullett driven to suicide and that Dr. Adams benefitted from their wills and gifts.

Would Ban Death Term in Colorado

Denver, Jan. 24 (AP) — Two women legislators said today they oppose a move to abolish capital punishment in Colorado.

Reps. Beck (D-Denver) and Thompson (R-Rocky Ford) declared they would vote against a bill to ban executions introduced yesterday by another woman legislator, Rep. Taylor (R-Palisade).

"It's the only way I know to treat some people," said Rep. Beck.

Mrs. Thompson, co-publisher of a Rocky Ford newspaper, said: "There are enough safeguards in the law so that we won't execute an innocent man. No one has proved to me capital punishment isn't a deterrent."

Mrs. Taylor announced last week she would offer the bill. She said she has received hundreds of letters from throughout the country praising her proposal.

3 Women Who Fled State Farm Captured

Pleasantville, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Three women prisoners, who escaped Tuesday from the Westfield State Farm at Bedford Hills, were captured by police yesterday as they strolled through the shopping district here.

The trio escaped during a heavy fog in late afternoon and were the objects of an all-night police search. Road blocks had been set up after they were reported seen hitchhiking on the Sawmill River Parkway at Chappaqua.

The prisoners were seized by the police at Pleasantville, 10 miles south of the prison.

Taken bacy to the farm were Lydia Johnson, 22, Negro, of Jersey City, N. J., serving a term for attempted grand larceny; Dolores Turner, 25, Negro, of Schenectady, N. Y., sentenced for forgery; and Yvonne Jordan, 38, New York City, serving a sentence for grand larceny.

WAITING AT THE AIRPORT—Film actress Elizabeth Taylor and producer Mike Todd stand beside a car at New York's Idlewild Airport Jan. 23, waiting to board a plane for Mexico City. Miss Taylor said she would stay with friends in Acapulco for a month, while Todd said he plans to return in a few days. (AP Wirephoto)

Baghdad Denies Nuri Has Quit

Baghdad, Jan. 24 (AP) — A foreign ministry spokesman has denied flatly a report from Lebanon that Iraqi Premier Nuri Said has resigned.

The spokesman called the report in the rightwing Lebanese newspaper Beirut part of a war of nerves being waged against Iraq. Nuri has been under fire from Egypt and Syria because of his pro-western views.

The Iraqi spokesman said the premier has no intention of stepping down.

Fugitive Captured

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The FBI today announced the capture of Alfred James White, one of the agency's "10 most wanted men" at Memphis, Tenn. In an announcement here, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said White, 53, "was not armed and was arrested without incident." The fugitive had been living in a small Memphis hotel under an alias since last November, Hoover added.

Pretty as a picture: white layer cake covered with a pale-orange colored frosting and decorated with tiny clusters of seedless green grapes.

Man Is Quizzed On Office Theft

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Donald Gore, 20, of 1393 2nd avenue, was being questioned today in connection with the terrorizing and robbery of 15 persons last Saturday in a Park Avenue doctor's office, police reported.

Gore was seized by federal treasury agents in a narcotics raid on his apartment near 72nd street last night, officers said.

Two other youths, not immediately identified, also were taken into custody in the apartment, federal agents said, and 48 tablets were confiscated.

After six hours of questioning by agents of the narcotics division of the Treasury Department, Gore and the two other youths were turned over to city police.

Gore, police said, had been identified by Mrs. Lillian Leavitt, wife of Dr. Jacob M. Leavitt, who shares the ground floor suite at 105 E. 90th street, where the holdup occurred.

Keep Those Suds

Soap Lake, Wash. (AP)—Officials of this central Washington town are trying to get federal agencies to do something about keeping "suds" in the lake at their front doors. Mayor W. R. Newell says the resort draws 40,000 people a year in search of relief from skin maladies. The waters have a reputation for therapeutic value. Now the residents fear seepage from a Columbia Basin irrigation project will turn it into a plain fresh water lake like others in the region.

Toy Terror

Oceanside, Calif. (AP)—William Bush, an Oceanside postal employe, rushed from post office to police station with a buzzing Christmas package. Sgt. William Bennet, fearing a bomb, gingerly opened the package. Inside he found a box containing an electric toy robot. Atop its head two lights flashed. The toy's arms flailed at top speed creating the buzz Bush had heard.

"I want to hand in my resignation!"

Outcast

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — The newest resident of the Jacksonville zoo is a social outcast. First hint that something might be lacking in his personality came when the owner sold the spider monkey to the zoo. But when he was put on an island with about 30 others of his kind, the hint became concrete action—the others threw him into the moat. Zoo workers fished him out and put him back on the island. The other monkeys threw him into the moat again. Supt. Gus Basford put the monkey in a cage by himself.

Carroll to Seek Chairmanship of County Democrats

Joseph Carroll, president of the Hurley Democratic Club, has announced his candidacy for Ulter county Democratic chairman at the election to be held at the courthouse Thursday, Jan. 31.

Mr. Carroll, who is well-known in city and county areas, said today that many Democratic committeemen had urged him to run for county chairman following the resignation of Attorney Thomas J. Plunket.

Mr. Carroll issued the following statement:

"I felt at that time that to hold a county convention immediately prior to an important election would not be in the best interests of the Democratic candidates who were then campaigning for office. Naturally, I am gratifiad at the continuing promises of support from so many Democratic committeemen throughout the county.

"The Democratic party in Ulter county is at the crossroads in this election to select a new county chairman. We can embark upon a well-planned program to organize thoroughly and take the new road to victory or we can continue our past performance and go down the same road to defeats. We recently demonstrated in Hurley that the people will vote for able Democratic candidates when they have the opportunity to do so.

"The Democratic party in Ulster can become the majority party. The composition of the Kingston City Board of Aldermen and the County Board of Supervisors has changed considerably in our favor in the past few years. Democratic members of both boards have brought out into the open many issues and more and more people are taking an active interest in what is going on in government in this county. As the minority party in Ulster county it is the responsibility of the Democratic party to debate the issues and bring them to the attention of all the people. If we nominate able candidates and the Democratic representatives continue their fight for better government it will not be long before the voters in Ulster county make the Democratic party the majority party in the city hall at Kingston and in the courthouse.

"District committeemen, the first line of offense and defense for their party, know that determined, intelligent and courageous leadership is necessary. In the light of their experience, I feel the committeemen will consider wisely their choice for a new chairman so that the Democratic party in Ulster county can take the road to victory."

Foot Locker

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Robert Lee Gunnoe Jr., 4-year-old son of a Charleston detective, "foot cuffed" himself by locking his father's handcuffs around his ankles. Gunnoe decided the case could wait until he got through work so young Robert hobbled around all day, unable to put on his pants. "He was certainly happy when I unlocked the cuffs," said Gunnoe. "Bet he doesn't try that again."

State May Be Future Home For One-Third of Refugees

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—New York state probably will become the home of almost one-third of all the Hungarian escapees arriving in the United States.

That's the expectation of refugee officials here. Leon Climenko, executive secretary of the State Committee on Refugees, said he did not consider it astonishing that one state should take such a large proportion.

He said that since World War 2 approximately 183,000 European refugees and displaced persons had settled in New York—about 30 per cent of all those admitted to the United States.

Climenko and fellow workers believe the state will take about the same proportion of the fleeing Hungarian patriots.

4,000 Already Here

He estimated that about 4,000 of the Hungarian anti-Communists already are settled here.

Many have done so under the sponsorship of religious and welfare organizations and individuals.

Meanwhile, the State Committee on Refugees headed by Isador Lubin, state industrial commissioner, is expanding a program whereby communities as a whole serve as sponsors.

In "operation community," as it is called, a city such as Syracuse forms its own committee, with members of all denominations, to pool the city's job openings and housing facilities.

Syracuse was the first in the state to take Hungarians under the community plan. Others so far include Utica, Norwich, Buffalo, Rochester and Sidney.

Lubin, both as state chairman and industrial commissioner, has cautioned all local committees against giving Hungarians job preference over unemployed Americans.

Find Jobs Rapidly

The escapees are steered to areas where there is a demand for workers. None have been sent, for instance, to Amsterdam, a city that has suffered from unemployment.

Within this precaution, the Hungarians are finding jobs rapidly.

Members of the state committee appeared particularly impressed with the job done by Norwich.

With a population of about 5,000, it raised a $1,500 fund to give the Hungarians free rent for one month and $25 each to workers to tide them over until they received their first pay check.

A busload of about 40 Hungarians from New Jersey's Camp Kilmer arrived in Norwich on a Wednesday night. Thirty-one were wage earners. By Thursday, 26 had jobs.

Get Big Welcome

They included 8 farmhands, 2 automobile mechanics, 2 printers, 2 plumbing and heating men, 2 textile workers, a cabinet-maker, a waitress, a chemist, a chemical engineer, a toolmaker, a baker, a butcher, a turbine mechanic and unskilled workers.

Although the bus did not arrive until almost midnight, the "whole town" turned out to give the Hungarians a welcome and a hot dinner in the grange hall.

James W. Marble, a dairyman and chairman of the Syracuse community committee, said the people in that city were "much impressed with the quality of the Hungarians."

He said the first 80 to arrive appeared to be of excellent character and that all the employables among them except one had found jobs.

"The night the first busload came in they were a shabby, tired pathetic lot," Marble said. "By the next afternoon, when they were being interviewed by representatives of various industries, you could see that they were more relaxed. Some were wearing better clothes.

Big Transition

"About a week later the Onondaga Hotel gave a party for them. By then they were all sharped up. The men had haircuts. The women had fancy hairdos. You could hardly tell them from long-time Americans. The transition was remarkable."

Few of the arriving Hungarians speak English—and this problem is being tackled. In Syracuse, for instance, English classes sponsored by the State Adult Education System are conducted twice a week.

Free Utica Rent

In Utica, the story is similar.

"Until they could get settled, the hotels in Utica gave them free rent, and that's something," commented a state official.

Henry J. Osinski, a Buffalo member of the committee, says there are three times as many requests there for refugees than are presently available.

Through pooled efforts, he said, such articles as furniture, dictionaries and Hungarian-English grammar books are being provided for the Hungarians.

RISING RED — Amid recurrent reports that Hungarian puppet Premier Janos Kadar has lost out with the Kremlin, observers see Minister of State Gyoergy Marosan, above, as the coming top man in the Communist Hungarian regime. Kadar's downfall was predicted for his failure to win any semblance of popular support.

AND STILL THEY FLEE—Although active anti-Communist revolution in Hungary has long since been crushed, refugees from the Communist despotism still flee across the border into Hungary. Above, a young Austrian volunteer helps a refugee cross a canal which forms part of the Austro-Hungarian frontier (location purposely withheld) with the aid of a local farmer (on far bank) and a donated rubber life-raft. Rotary Plaques Are in Memory Of E. F. Flanagan

Plaques in memory of the late E. Frank Flanagan, who for 32 years was a member of the Kingston Rotary Club, were presented by the local service club to his family and to the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston of which he was president at the time of his death.

The presentation of the plaques, which were documented by Frederic Snyder, were made by Rotary President Robert L. Sabin at the regular weekly luncheon-meeting held Wednesday. They were accepted by Albert Flanagan for the family and by Alfred D. Ronder for the loan association.

In an informal talk to his fellow Rotarians, Mr. Snyder discussed major news occurrences and gave his interpretation of these current events. Particularly enlightening was his background material on incidents leading to the present world-wide problems. Much of this material was from on the scene observation by the news analyst and world traveler.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many folks remember when they had watering troughs in Kingston. There is an item in the Tuesday, Feb. 19, 1924 Freeman in which a Kingstonian complains that the watering trough at the corner of Hurley and Washington avenues "has not been in repair for the past three months and so without water." It seems according to the item that reader feels "the city likes to get trade from people who use horses but do not care to furnish accommodiations for the poor horse." I wonder what that reader would have thought of meters for autos as we have today. In those days you could tie a horse and wagon many places all over town for free and go shopping and of course you could get the horse a nice cool drink of water free.

From time to time it is interesting to read advertisements of long ago. Rose-Gorman-Rose had an advertisement in the Feb. 22, 1924 Freeman and had a lot of bargains I would like to find on the counters today. This sounds good, cloth of gold, 36 inches wide, chamois finish, even thread, snowwhite, this week only, special 19 cents. Apron gingham blue and white checks and plaids, only 12 and a half cents a yard. They had an eight cent sale on notions such as: garment hangers, pearl buttons, powder puffs, pocket scissors were 9 cents etc., Van Wagenen's also had a sale, taking a full page advertisement, black silk and other colored stockings were 69 cents. Men's winter weight union suits $1.00.

I see another Rose-Gorman-Rose advertisement in the February 29 issue. They had their dollar day specials. brooms, royal blue, No. 6, 7 or 8 were only $1.00. You could also buy a nice heavy galvanized iron wash tub with drop handles and wringer attachment. No doubt that reduced your waist-line without diets. Lock cover garbage cans of heavy galvanized iron, 'dog or cat cannot remove the cover.' only $1.00. Golden oak finished wood seat kitchen chairs were a dollar. Fumed oak pedestals, 24 inches high, square or octagon tops were also in the sale. Lalabye baby swings made of white duck with safety device. You could also buy 3 yards of 50 inch table oilcloth for one dollar. Metal lunch kits with vacuum bottles were also in this sale.

Here's an item from the horse and buggy days in Kingston in this same newspaper: "The large brick barn of the Kingston Hotel, Crown street, that has housed horses for many years before the automobile era, is being dismantled and will be converted into a garage. The large shed in front of the barn that was filled every day for years with rigs of farmers who had come to town to do shopping, was torn down a few years ago, but there still remains a long shed at the side which is used occasionally by owners of horses who come from the nearby neighborhood to place their rigs." No doubt parking of horse and wagon was a problem years ago uptown too, so they had sheds for that purpose. Perhaps old timers remember some incidents from those days in parking a horse uptown.

Lack of Action By Health Heads Gets Criticism

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 24 (AP)—The surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service says resistance by local public health administrators to the new ideas and concepts may force the state or federal government to take action.

Dr. Leroy Burney told the University of Michigan's Institute on Public Health Administration yesterday that unwillingness of local health officials to keep up with progress and to experiment with new techniques results in "wasteful expenditure of tax funds."

Commenting that chronic disease, mental illness and the health of the aging are the foremost community health problems, Dr. Burney warned that "health officers can no longer ignore the accumulation of findings in those fields simply because they do not apply to the comfortably familiar fields of communicable disease control, basic sanitation, and maternal and child health."

"Unless more economical and effective methods are found and widely applied, the growing population of elderly persons and disabled people of all ages requiring prolonged (medical and hospital) care will continue to bankrupt themselves, and ultimately bankrupt many local governments and voluntary health insurance plans," he said.

Dr. Burney said although there is resistance to change on the local level, public health on the state and national levels has made noteworthy progress in adjusting to the changing needs.

He said federal and state governments are interested in any "reasonable proposals" to preserve the rights of states and local governments and voluntary agencies.

Auxiliary's Annual Ball Aids Hospital Volunteer Services; Pat Dorn to Appear

The annual ball of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, which is being held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Saturday, Feb. 2, is the principal fund-raising activity of the auxiliary for the year. From the proceeds of this dance the auxiliary is enabled to turn over a considerable sum to the hospital building fund each year.

Other activities of the auxiliary can thus be directed mainly to projects for service to hospital patients. In this regard the auxiliary maintains a volunteer desk service which helps incoming patients with the admittance routine, ushers them to the proper rooms and sees that they are comfortably settled thus relieving nurses for more urgent duties. In addition to this the volunteers see that mail and flowers for patients are sorted and distributed promptly. Each month over 40 volunteers give from two to three hours daily to maintain this service.

The sales cart, also a service project, operates twice daily bringing to patients the opportunity to purchase magazines, candy, toilet articles and writing materials. The cart service operating five days a week uses the services of 10 or more volunteers each week.

The public is cordially invited to attend the annual ball so that they too can have a share in making it a financial success. Dancing will continue from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m to the music of Pat Dorn and his "Toast of New England" orchestra.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

SITTING IN A DRAFT

Today's first letter tells me: The other night I was invited to play cards at a neighbor's house. I was seated near a window which was open quite a bit from the top. It was a rather cold night and I could feel a terrible draft on my back. I stood it for as long as I could and then asked the hostess if she would please close the window. She did so, of course, but she didn't seem very pleased about it. Will you please tell me if I was wrong to make such a request?"

It would have been best to have asked for a scarf to protect your back from the draft. Your hostess then could have either brought you a scarf or closed the window.

Signature After Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: It is the belief of many of my friends that when a young woman marries she drops her middle name and substitutes her maiden name in its place. For example: Mary Jane Smith would sign her name Mary Smith Jones after her marriage to John Jones. I, on the other hand, think just the opposite of this and believe that when a young woman marries she drops her maiden name entirely and adds her husband's name to her own given one. Will you please tell me which is right?

Answer: She may sign her name whichever way she pleases, but legally, as well as socially, her correct signature is Mary Smith Jones because it establishes who she was.

A Detail of Theater Etiquette

Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and woman are leaving their seats in a theater, does it seem rude if the man goes out of the row ahead of the woman if he happens to be sitting nearest the aisle, or is he supposed to stand and let her pass in front of him so that she may go out first?

Answer: They go out in the order in which they are seated. When he gets to the aisle he stands aside and lets her go first, or else they walk out together.

RPI Alumni Will Hear Speaker On SAGE System

COL. J. B. McSHANE

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute's Mid-Hudson Alumni Association will hold its first meeting of the year at the Mirabell Inn, near Poughkeepsie, tonight, it was announced by Don Zeissett, secretary of the local group.

Col. Joseph B. McShane, chief of the Information Services at Headquarters Eastern Air Defense Force, will tell the engineers and scientists from RPI of some of the complex and unique technical problems which were overcome in establishing the SAGE system of aircraft detection and interception. Two Perish in Fire

Oakland, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—A crippled polio victim and another employe were killed yesterday in an explosion and fire at a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. warehouse and operations center. Five others were injured. Two of them were burned critically as a geyser of flame enveloped the two-story building. Francisco Trombley, 58, and Cedrick O. Helmuth were trapped in a corner of the meter room on the second floor. One of Trombley's leg braces had come off but Fire Chief Bernard Dooley said he doubted this or Trombley's disability contributed to his death. He apparently suffocated.

Raid Nets Trio In Connection With Bank Theft

Minneapolis, Jan. 24 (AP)—Two men listed by the FBI as among "the most dangerous criminals at large," and a teen-age girl were seized early today in connection with a $14,000 Baltimore bank robbery.

FBI agents and police, in a mass raid on an apartment at the edge of the downtown district, captured the three without any resistance.

All From Boston

Cal Howard, special FBI agent in charge, said the three are: Louis R. Arquilla, 26; Martin Francis Feeney, 41, and Dorothy Frances Borchard, 19, all of Boston.

Howard said the trio was wanted for the holdup of the Fidelity Baltimore National Bank and Trust Co., Freedom branch, last Nov. 26. Agents said a snub-nosed .38-caliber pistol and a sawed-off shotgun, with ample supplies of ammunition, were found in the apartment.

Two Most Dangerous

"These men currently had been listed as two of the most dangerous criminals at large," Howard said. "They had stated they would shoot any officer attempting to arrest them."

Police said the apartment had been under surveillance for some time before a score of FBI agents and several police squads sealed off the building shortly before 2 a. m. (CST). It is located at 316 Oak Grove St., near Loring Park.

Gave Up Meekly

After the building was surrounded agents carrying sub-machine guns and clad in armored vests, pounded on the door with demands that the occupants surrender. Within a few minutes, Howard said, Arquilla and Feeney, both in night attire, backed out the door, their arms upraised.

In answer to further demands, Miss Borchard, a small blonde, wearing pajamas, appeared, weeping. Howard said she had been accused as the driver of the holdup getaway car in the bank robbery.

The three were jailed immediately while agents searched the apartment. Howard said the trio would appear in Federal Court to answer to the bank robbery warrants.

Says Prince Was With Victim Day Before She Died

Venice, Jan. 24 (AP)—A former employe of Roman playboy Ugo Montagna testified today that he saw Wilma Montesi with Prince Maurice of Hess the day before her body was found on the Ostia Beach near Rome four years ago.

Venanzio De Felice, who was employed as a guard at Montagna's Copocotta game preserve, said he saw the couple in a light-colored convertible.

No Accusation

The prince's name was also brought into preliminary Rome investigations of the scandal-packed case, but no accusation ever were made against him. Montagna is one of the three principal defendants in the case.

De Felice also told the three-judge panel that Anna Maria Caglio, who testified in Rome that she was Montagna's mistress and that he was the brains of a drug ring, was the "only woman who frequented Capocotta."

WINS AMERICANISM MEDAL—Vickie Wellman, 14, of Detroit has learned she will receive an Americanism medal from the Charles A. Learned American Legion Post Auxiliary. Her father, Saul, is under a 4-year and 8-month sentence for conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government. He was at one time Michigan chief of the Communist party. (AP Wirephoto)

Purvis, Others To Attend 63rd Lumber Parley

John E. Purvis, general manager of Island Dock Lumber Inc., will be among the 5,000 delegates and guests of the Northeastern Retail Lumbermen's Association at its 63rd annual convention in New York city starting Jan. 28.

Mr. Purvis said the convention's main business will be consideration of the tremendous interest women, particularly housewives, are taking in the construction of new homes and the purchase of material from retail lumber dealers. A report on what women want in their homes, as determined at the recent Women's Congress Meeting at Washington, D. C. will be heard at an important session of the Northeastern Convention.

Lumber retailers, Mr. Purvis points out, are continuing their activities in Operation Home Improvement, now in its second successful year and they anticipate great concentration on the repair and modernization of the more than 20,000,000 American homes in 1957.

Commissioner Albert M. Cole of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency will make a principal address at the New York Convention.

In addition to Mr. Purvis others from this city who will attend the convention are: Harry Brigham, Raymond Walsh, Joseph Stout, Herbert Batts and Floyd Ellsworth of Island Dock Lumber, Inc.

70 Democrats Ask That Dulles Press Nasser for Help

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP) — Seventy Democratic members of Congress today called on Secretary of State Dulles to insist that Egypt's President Nasser help contribute to a solution of Middle East problems.

Saying "they understand" Israel's reluctance to withdraw from Egyptian territory, the Democrats asked for assurance against a return to conditions under which Nasser barred Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal.

Then in a reference to President Eisenhower's Middle East program, they said:

"It is a futile enterprise to erect defenses against external Soviet aggression if we ignore the danger that a Communist-armed or Communist-inspired power is in a position, at any time it wishes, to close this major waterway."

The Democrats gave their views in an open letter to Dulles. The letter was issued through the office of Rep. Celler (N.Y.). Most of the congressmen whose names appeared on it are from northern and eastern states.

Must Be Strong

The legislators expressed general agreement with the aims of the Eisenhower resolution, saying "the administration and Congress must take effective measures to strengthen the Middle East against the threat of Communist aggression."

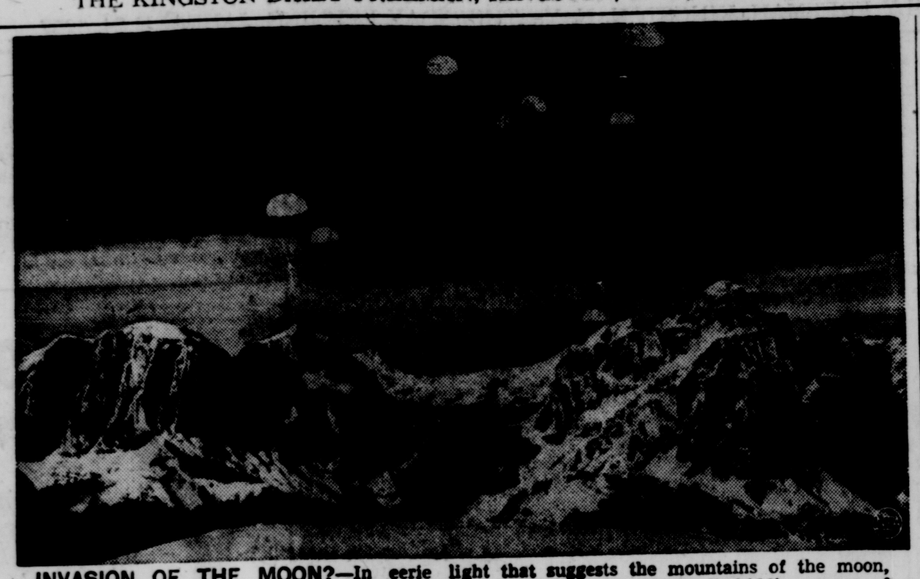
But, they asked: "Should we not ask Col. Nasser for a commitment to keep the Suez open to the shipping of all nations without exception? Should we not ask him for an undertaking to desist from any blockade of the Straits of Tiran and the Gulf of Aqaba?"

They said they are "disturbed by reports" that the United Nations is pressuring Israeli forces to withdraw from positions taken from the Egyptians in the recent fighting. They said Israel does not want permanent occupation of these positions, but does seek guarantees against a return of the Egyptian blockade.

They added:

"Many of the problems which now confront us in the Middle East today would not have arisen if we had secured an absolute commitment from Egypt back in 1954, when the British agreed to withdraw, that the Suez would be open to the shipping of all nations without discrimination.

"In the light of that experience, we believe that it would be most desirable to insist that Nasser now be pressed to make a contribution to the solution of those problems in the future."



INVASION OF THE MOON?—In eerie light that suggests the mountains of the moon, Italian paratroopers descend toward a 7,500-foot-high plateau amid the forbidding crags of the Italian Alps at Conca Di Corvaro. Marking a new era in mountain warfare, the drop was made in sub-zero temperatures.

Crayon Coloring Contest Planned By Minasian's

A crayon coloring contest for children under 14 years old with a number of local and national prizes has been announced by Minasian's Supermarket, 86 N. Front street.

The contest is being sponsored by Minasian's and a number of national manufacturing firms.

Seven prizes are being offered by the local store — an Ansco Camera set, a pair of skates, a sketching set and art book, watches for a girl and boy and pen and pencil sets for boy and girl.

Available At Store

In addition, there will be a number of national prizes, including a grand prize of $5,000 Savings Bond or a four-year college scholarship. There will also be 25 trips to Disneyland and 25 trips to Miami Beach.

The magazines to be colored are available at Minasian's. A number of the magazines will be distributed tonight at the Children's Home by Edward Minasian, it was reported.

Any child who does not become 14 until Feb. 16, 1957, or thereafter is eligible. Mr. Minasian said the coloring would be judged taking the age of the contestant into consideration.

He stressed that the contest was "absolutely free." Local judges will be an art teacher in Kingston High School and one in the elementary grades. The two best locally will be submitted to the national contest.

In the coloring book are 33 pictures of national products. Only the product itself is to be colored. The books should then be returned to Minasian's Supermarket.

The products should be colored to look like the real products on the shelves in the store, it was said.

Ends Feb. 16

All entry books must be returned to Minasian's by closing time Saturday, Feb. 16.

Entries will be judged on the basis of neatness and exactness of the pictures to the real products, and the age of the contestant will be taken into consideration. All entries become the property of Minasian's. None will be returned.

Winners will be notified by the local store management on or before April 1, 1957.

15 Die in Clashes

New Delhi, Jan. 24 (AP)—Fifteen persons are reported dead following clashes between police and followers of a self-styled "god" in a remote village 100 miles east of New Delhi. The violence occurred at the village of Mukrampur, near Moradabad. Official reports gave this account: About three months ago a handsome young man arrived in Mukrampur and told the villagers he was a religious man. His striking eppearance and speech soon brought him many followers and he assumed the "god" title.

In match point duplicate a player will double part score contracts that he would never think of doubling in rubber bridge.

East's double was strictly a duplicate double. He thought that he would have made three spades for a score of 140. Ninety plus 50 for the part score. He wanted the 200 points for a doubled set to beat that.

West led his fourth best club. Dummy won with the ace and East had to drop an honor. The six of clubs was led and trumped while East's second honor fell.

Declarer next played the king of hearts and West made the mistake of taking his ace right then.

East dropped the eight of hearts (he did not want a spade shift) and West led the seven of hearts. Dummy's ten took the trick and the jack of clubs was led. Poor East ruffed low. South overruffed and played his ace of trumps. A heart was led to dummy's queen and the ten of clubs played.

East chose to trump. It did not matter what he did because South discarded the nine of spades thereby holding his losses to one heart, one trump and one spade.

West could have beaten the hand by not taking the king of hearts. He also could have beaten it by opening and continuing hearts. Either of these lines of play would have killed an entry to dummy and made it impossible to get the spade discard.

Quits City Post

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Andrew W. Mulrain, citing ill health and a need to provide more adequately for his family, has resigned his $25,000-a-year post as city sanitation commissioner. Mulrain announced his resignation yesterday, to become effective Feb. 28. He has served as commissioner at the 14,000-man department since 1949, when he was appointed by former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Atomic Program For Firms Real Antitrust Test

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today commercial development of atomic energy will give the antitrust laws "their greatest opportunity for useful application" in the field of preventive action.

In an address prepared for the antitrust law section of the New York State Bar Assn., Brownell announced a program for employing those laws to stop any indications of monopoly in the commercial atomic field.

"The Department of Justice is eager to meet the unique challenge presented by this new industry," he said. "We have an important role to play in fostering competition. We here have an opportunity to utilize preventive rather than merely remedial action. We must act to prevent anticompetitive tendencies before they mature into monopolistic patterns."

The attorney general said the antitrust questions has not arisen thus far in relation to atomic energy, because commercial activity in the field is still completely experimental. He said it was a hopeful sign that more than 1,000 persons and firms have already been granted "access permits" by the Atomic Energy Commission to obtain technical information on commercial use of atomic energy, but he added:

"Nevertheless, we will keep a close eye on the developing situation in atomic energy."

Brownell said present laws can be applied, and he will inform Congress "without delay of any need which may develop for changes in the basic statutes to provide additional competitive safeguards."

Private Is Convicted

Lockport, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—A State Supreme Court jury has convicted an army private of first-degree manslaughter in the shooting of a 20-year-old man he found in his wife's bedroom last Oct. 27. The verdict was returned last night against Pfc. Louis J. Pirastru, 28, of Niagara Falls. Pirastru was tried on a first-degree murder charge in the death of Charles Cole, a Niagara Falls factory worker. The victim had come to Niagara Falls a short time before from Miami, Fla.

AMERICAN MENU

Petite Party Pizzas Are Fine Cold-Weather Fare

PETITE PIZZAS are easy to make, appealing to eye and taste. They're wonderful items for wintertime parties.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

This American version of little pizzas is just what to serve for after-skating parties. Hearty, portion-size pies made with chopped chicken and mushrooms, the filling can be made ahead of time.

At the last moment, pile the filling high on English muffin halves, top with sliced American cheese and pop into the oven for 10 minutes. Simple as that—and wonderful to eat.

Chicken Mushroom Pizzas (12 servings)

Six English muffins, 2 cups diced, cooked chicken; 3-ounce can chopped, broiled mushrooms, drained; 1/3 cup chili sauce, 6 slices American cheese.

Split muffins, place on greased baking sheet and toast lightly. Combine chicken and mushrooms with chili sauce.

Spread mixture on muffins. Cut cheese in quarters and overlap two pieces on each muffin. Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., for 10 minutes. Makes 12 individual pizzas.

Here's another quick party item—pickle rabbit. This dish will make a hit with any hungry crowd of guests.

Party Pickle Rabbit (Serves 6)

One tablespoon butter or margarine, 1½ cups grated Cheddar cheese (about 1/3 pound), ½ teaspoon prepared mustard, dash cayenne, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, well beaten; ½ cup chopped, sweet, mixed pickles; sliced turkey, 6 slices buttered toast, 6 slices crisp-cooked bacon.

Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler. Add cheese and cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until melted. Add mustard, cayenne and milk.

Cook, stirring occasionally, until ingredients are blended. Gradually add egg, stirring constantly.

Cook until thickened and smooth, stirring occasionally. Fold in pickles. Arrange turkey on toast in shallow baking dish. Top with cheese sauce.

Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat 3 to 5 minutes, or until cheese sauce is lightly browned. Garnish with bacon.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Chicken mushroom pizzas, canned peas, potato balls, lettuce, tomato and cucumber salad, mince pie with vanilla ice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

Newsmen Seized By Hungary, 15 Now Arrested

Budapest, Jan. 24 (AP)—Premier Janos Kadar's Soviet-supported government cracked down with additional arrests of "counter-revolutionaries." Among those seized recently, it was learned, are eight well-known Hungarian newspapermen.

The government - controlled press reported at least 13 new arrests of alleged counter-revolutionaries as the Communist Secret Police spread their dragnets to catch people with hidden arms or suspected of anti-government activity.

Aided in Revolt

The new arrests of newsmen brought to at least 15 the number of prominent literary and journalistic figures jailed for having participated in the October anti-Soviet revolt.

Only one of the new arrests, that of journalist Gabor Folly, was reported in the controlled press. He was accused of getting "children 10 and 12 years old to collect military information."

The arrests are part of the government's announced campaign to "liquidate the remnants of the counter-revolution" and to "settle accounts with our enemies."

A Communist-controlled newspaper in Miskolc charged that the counter-revolutionaries had switched their anti-government attacks to the farms, where they are driving to smash the Soviet-style collective agriculture.

It was three months ago yesterday that student unrest sparked the Hungarian revolution.

cisco, a fruit plant manager, told a meeting of the Western New York Apple Growers Assn., that farmers must work individually to strengthen their bargaining position in agriculture.

Marion Johnson of Williamson, was elected president of the Apple Growers Association to succeed Cameron G. Garman of Burt.

Other officers elected were Howard Baker of Ransomville, vice president; W. J. Kletzbach of Rochester, treasurer and executive secretary; and George Strasenburgh of Morton, assistant treasurer.

New members of the board of directors are Roger Silsby of Gasport, Donald Nesbitt of Medina and Rex Furber of Wolcott.

In a resolution, the association called for a tree count in the state which would number the fruit-bearing trees in the state and which would be kept up to date regarding new plantings and removals.

NURSERY DOUBLES FACILITIES — The Fair Street Nursery School, a non-sectarian, non-profit, cooperative school for pre-school children announced expanded facilities at the school which occupies a wing of the new education building of Fair Street Reformed Church. Children of the nursery are shown during an afternoon session in one of the spacious kindergarten rooms. (Freeman photo).

New Fair Street Nursery School Considered Model

With the completion of the expansion of Fair Street Nursery School, the non-sectarian, non-profit, cooperative school for pre-school children is now considered a model nursery school in this section of the State, according to Mrs. Frieda Dingee, president of the school board.

The school which had doubled its facilities now occupies a self-contained wing at the new education building of Fair Street Reformed Church. Included in this wing are two classrooms, lavatory, office, crib room and outdoor play areas. The school can accommodate 68 children in three sessions daily, Mrs. Dingee said.

According to the announcement Mrs. Benjamin Emerick and Mrs. Foster Welwood of Syracuse have joined the teaching staff this year.

Parent Night Slated

A parent night program has been scheduled in the parlor of the new quarters Tuesday at 8 p. m. Mrs. Dingee will direct a discussion following the showing of the film, "Shyness." A parent from each of the three sessions will be elected to the school board at this meeting. The term of office will extend through June 1957.

The new school has been featured in an article published in one of the educational textbooks contained in most libraries. The item has created a demand for the school's booklet, "You and Your Child Join a Cooperative." Requests have been received from all over the United States and Japan where American servicemen wish to establish a nursery school for their pre-school children.

Members of the board are the Rev. Dean Dykstra, vice-president; Edward Dingledey, secretary; Mrs. Sherwood Davis, treasurer; Mrs. Austin Boyd, Mrs. Arthur Hazenbush, Mrs. Richard Keuhne, Dr. Elbert MacFadden, Samuel Pepper, Mrs. John Roberts, John Caron and the school doctor, Dr. John Roberts.

Catskill Blaze Destroys Lumber Yard, Oil Trucks

Catskill, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—An early morning fire destroyed a lumber yard and eight oil tank trucks in the community of Limestreet near here today.

The proprietor, Donald G. Sager, was unable to estimate the cost of the damage but an insurance agent said it would exceed $100,000.

Four fire companies from surrounding communities fought the blaze. A quantity of finished lumber, service equipment, a tractor and the proprietor's car were also destroyed.

No one was injured.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

130 at Port Ewen Hear Proposal On Consolidation

More than 130 persons attended an open meeting Wednesday night at the town of Esopus auditorium to hear the Greater Kingston School Consolidation proposal.

A panel headed by Norman Hammond, committeeman of Lake Katrine answered questions and explained the various phases of the proposal. Other members of the panel were Dr. Earl Soper, superintendent of Kingston Schools; Daniel Morehouse, president of Board of Cooperative Services and Roy Feddes of Ruby, chairman of the consolidation committee.

Petitions Circulated

Petitions were circulated following the meeting. The petition requests the commissioner of education to include School District 1, town of Esopus in the Greater Kingston Consolidated District.

It was pointed out that these signatures were in no way binding as to the outcome of the proposal. A vote on the actual proposal will be taken at a later date.

Dr. Soper answered questions and outlined the State Education Department's philosophy on centralizing districts.

Ruby Lutheran Church Slates Annual Meeting

The congregation of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Mt. Calvary, Ruby, will hold its annual congregational meeting Sunday at 7 p. m. at the church, according to an announcement by the Rev. Richard I. Crossland, pastor.

In addition to reports by the pastor, treasurer and benevolence treasurer, there will be the election of church councilmen and the adoption of the budget for 1957.

The Rev. Mr. Crossland said, "Although all congregational meetings are important, this one could be one of the most important ones in recent years, as two important matters will come before the congregation.

1. The matter of holding services each week instead of the present plan of services on the first and third Sundays of every month.

2. The possibility of the congregation becoming part of another parish. At the present time the congregation is part of the Lutheran congregation in Saugerties and served by the same pastor. However, due to the increased activity and program in Saugerties, there is the feeling on the part of the Rev. Mr. Crossland, that in fairness to both congregations he should resign as pastor at Ruby and in that way another pastor could be found who could devote more time to the Mt. Calvary Church.

At the conclusion of the meeting there will be the showing of the film, "And Now I See" followed by refreshments.

Higher Payrolls, More Work Due To Job Expansion

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson says 1956 investments in industrial expansion in New York state will result in 23,000 new jobs and a payroll increase of 95 million dollars.

He said yesterday in his annual report to Gov. Harriman that 664 industrial firms had invested 406 million dollars last year in expansion or new operations.

The commissioner said plans had been reported by industry for a total of 300 additional projects to cost nearly 400 million dollars.

Dickinson also reported that his department had helped to attract or retain 11 plants with a total estimated payroll of six million dollars a year.

He said sites of those plants were in Harverstraw, Ballston Spa, Mount Vernon, Wallkill, Cortland, Cobleskill, Goshen, the Newburgh area and Carle Place, Nassau county.

'No Cause' Verdict Given in Lewis Case

A "no cause" verdict was returned Wednesday in Supreme Court in actions brought by Frank H. Lewis and wife against Henry Wittstadt. Mrs. Lewis of New Hampton was injured on Minnewaska Trail when her car, coming down the mountain, skidded on ice and crossed over the road striking the defendants car which was proceeding up the hill. John A. Bonomi appeared for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendant with A. J. Cook, Jr., as trial counsel.

Announced as settled was an automobile negligence action brought by Roger Sherman Transfer Company against George Hoff and another. Cook and Cook for plaintiff and Cusack, Shumate and Geoghan for defendant. Also settled was a property damage act on arising out of negligence and trespass brought by Frank Roberto and another against Eugene Conway and another. A. W. Lent for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendants.

Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth recessed the term until Monday at 10 a. m. and excused jurors to that time. The recess was taken to permit attorneys to attend the annual meeting of the New York State Bar Association in New York.

Up to the time of adjournment Wednesday Justice Elsworth had disposed of 61 cases at the term.

Monday additions will be made to the calendar and pre-trial conferences held.

'Bomber' to Get Legal Aid From Noted Attorney

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)—George Metesky, the confessed "mad bomber" of New York, today appeared likely to get the aid of one of the city's foremost criminal lawyers, James D. C. Murray.

There also was a prospect of similar help from a prominent Connecticut attorney, Harry F. Stellman, former New Haven county prosecutor.

Hired by Sisters

Stellman said Metesky's sisters, Anna and Mae, visited him yesterday and authorized him to employ Murray for their brother's defense. Stellman said he planned to visit both Metesky and Murray today.

Murray himself said he expected to see Metesky at New York's Bellevue Hospital but was noncommittal as to whether he would undertake to represent Metesky.

By an interesting coincidence, the two lawyers, Metesky and Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, who will direct the prosecution, are all from Waterbury, Conn.

Credits Employe

Meanwhile, Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy conceded that it was an employe of the Consolidated Edison Co.—not one of his detectives—who turned up the documents that led to Metesky's arrest.

Kennedy also concedes that police did not personally examine the documents until Monday morning, although they were notified Friday afternoon of the contents of the discovery.

Metesky, 53, was arrested Monday night at his Waterbury, Conn., home by New York and Waterbury police.

Ganders to Play Wallkill at Home

Undefeated Rondout Valley Central, boasting the best record of any school in the Hudson valley, seeks its 11th triumph Friday in a home game with Wallkill as the second half of the season opens in the UCAL.

One other game is scheduled, at Marlboro where Onteora Central will be the visitors.

The lone DUSO games is tonight at Newburgh where the Goldbacks play host to Liberty in an important fray. Kingston High, winners of three in a row, doesn't return to DUSO action until Tuesday when Middletown is the guest at the field house.

Ganders Favored

Rondout is a top-heavy favorite to keep rolling and make Wallkill victim No. 7 in the UCAL. The Kerhonkson quintet already holds a 73-45 verdict over the Blue Devils who stand 1-5 next to last in the race.

Onteora, the early season leader, will be out to keep pace with Rondout against potentially dangerous Marlboro squad which possesses a 2-3 slate. The Indians (4-2) still have high hopes of taking it all, although their losses were at the hands of Rondout and second place Saugerties.

Sawyers Play Feb. 1

Speaking of the Sawyers, they don't resume action until Feb. 1 at Highland. That contest is a makeup affair and will begin at 4 p. m. Their record is 5-1.

Newburgh can break a three-way deadlock for a second with a win over the Redskins. The Hilly City band is 5-2 and tied with Ellenville and Port Jervis. Poughkeepsie is 6-1 and leads the circuit by a full game.

Liberty has slumped off badly since activity resumed after the holidays. The Sullivan county five has dropped three straight after copping their first four and rank behind the three stalemated teams.

Schwartzwalder Stays at Syracuse

Syracuse, Jan. 24 (AP)—Football coach Ben Schwartzwalder says he will stay at Syracuse University.

A school spokesman said yesterday a five-year contract with Schwartzwalder had two years to run but would be replaced by a new agreement.

The coach had been mentioned as a candidate for a post at the University of Southern California and reportedly had conferred over the weekend with a representative of that school.

No details were given on either the present or planned contracts.

Celtics Set Season Mark On 140 Points

(By The Associated Press)

Having trampled all opposition in the race for the Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Assn., the talent-laden Boston Celtics displayed an awesome attack last night in rolling up 140 points to 108 for Syracuse to miss the all-time single team scoring record by only two points. Oddly enough, it was against the Celtics on Feb. 8, 1956 that Philadelphia set the mark at 142 points.

The Celtics, however, did set a seasonal record, snapping the mark of 137 points set by St. Louis against New York last month, and opened their lead over runner-up Philadelphia to five games.

Warriors Second

Philadelphia took over the second spot by defeating New York 99-93. In the west, Minneapolis moved into a tie for first place by knocking off Rochester 107-99 at Louisville and St. Louis set back Fort Wayne 101-78 at Charlotte.

With the eastern race all but over—the western scramble took on new importance, with one game separating the four teams. The Lakers and Pistons are tied for the lead with 20-22 records. St. Louis is 20-23 and Rochester 20-24.

Neil Johnston with 27 points and Joe Graboski with 22, paced the Warriors in their battle with New York. The teams were tied after one quarter, but Philadelphia opened a 54-49 halftime lead and overcome a shaky last period when they were outscored 24-19. Ray Felix was high man for the Knickerbockers with 21 points and Ken Sears had 20. The Warriors now are a half game in front of New York.

Ortiz Sets Up Ring Rating

Chicago, Jan. 24 (AP)—The National Boxing Assn. had better start making a spot in its rankings for lightweight Carlos Ortiz, a nifty combination puncher who remained unbeaten last night in gaining his 20th straight ring victory.

The 20-year-old New York fighter disposed of Chicago's Bobby Rogers before the TV cameras in Chicago Stadium and a handful of 1,048 ringside customers.

Ortiz did his job skillfully. He dug into Rogers' midsection with lefts and followed with sharp rights to the face. Rogers was so inexperienced that he tried to outjab him although lacking the range.

The decision for Ortiz was unanimous and wide.

Mississippi basketball captain Joe Gibbon scored 29 out of 32 free throws this season in games against Alabama and Auburn.

Rangers Cling To Playoff Hope

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Rangers today had a short reprieve in the race for the last National Hockey League playoff position and it was Lou Fontinato, the bruising Ranger defenseman, who acted as judge and jury.

With the Rangers trailing the fourth-place Toronto Maple Leafs 4-3 last night late in the final period, Fontinato took a pass from Andy Bathgate, pushed the puck between two Leaf defenders, and bulled his way through to pick it up and push it into the net.

The tie kept the Rangers within striking distance, five points behind Toronto. New York has played two fewer games than the Leafs.

Larsen Says He'll Tend Bar Unless Yankees Meet Terms

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

The perfect game Don Larsen pitched in last fall's World Series is going to cost the New York Yankees more money than the world champions have offered their glamor pitcher.

While most of the world champions have signed their 1957 contracts without any noticeable kicks, the club's two show pieces —Larsen and Mickey (The Slugger) Mantle — are making no bones about wanting more money. And plenty of the green stuff at that.

Larsen, who posted a 11-5 regular season record before hurling the first perfect game in World Series history, said from his San Diego, Calif., home yesterday that he had returned his contract and wants $27,500.

Twice Over 1956

The big right-hander, who received nearly $9,000 as his winning share of the World Series and picked up at least that much in post-season appearances, declined to say how much he received last year or how much the Yankees offered this time. But it's a pretty safe guess the $27,500 is mighty close to twice the value of his 1956 contract. Unofficially it was believed the Yanks oflered him $15,000 this year.

"If they don't do better than the offer they sent me," Larsen said, "I may end up tending bar." He added he is about five to 10 pounds above his regular pitching weight.

"But I'm starting to get in shape now and will be ready when I report to camp."

Mantle Talk Planned

Meantime, Mantle is waiting for a talk with Yankee general manager George Weiss, probably within 10 days when the baseball clans gather in New York for the annual writers' dinner.

Mickey, honored in Milwaukee last night as the Associated Press Male Athlete of 1956, has indicated he wants at least double the salary he received last year when he won baseball's triple crown composed of hitting (.353), runs batted in (130 and home runs (52). He is believed to have received around $35,000 last year.

The Yankees did sign two more players yesterday, however, when shortstop Billy Hunter and Jerry Lumpe sent in their contracts.

Other clubs also continued to line up their players without too much trouble.

The Brooklyn Dodgers ran their list of satisfied players to 33, with seven to go, with the signing of three rookies—first baseman Jim Gentile, infielder Jasper Spears and all-around Mike Napoli.

Bob Cerv, a former Yankee, signed his Kansas City Athletics contract. Righthander Tom Brewer and Frank Sullivan, aces of the Boston pitching staff, signed up quickly after talking with Red Sox general manager Joe Cronin. Jim Hearn, also a right-handed pitcher agreed to Philadelphia Phillies' terms. And St. Louis reduced its list of unsigned Cardinals to six with the signing of pitchers Don Liddle and Lloyd Merritt and first baseman Glenn Nelson.

Question: A new college rule prohibits throwing the ball in from the end-line if you are within the plane of the free-throw line. Why is this?—Howard Cohen.

Answer: That was put in when they found players such as Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas and Bill Russell of San Francisco, now with the Boston Celtics, were able to make a farce of the game by a simple play. With Chamberlain, for example, on the offense and the situation calling for a throw-in from under his goal's end-line, a teammate would stand behind the basket and throw the pass up over the backboard. Chamberlain would meet it coming down and stuff it in.

Q. A dribbler slips, falls and starts to get up. An opponent trying to grab the ball falls on top of him. Is this a foul?—Ed Griffin.

A. It is a play you would have to see. Generally when this happens it results in a jump ball.

Q. Is there such a thing as having part of your team in a zone defense and the rest in man-to-man?—Lew Eskin.

A. Many college teams work a four-man zone and place the fifth defender on the opposition's top scorer.

Big Ten football schedules for 1959 and 1960 already have been arranged.

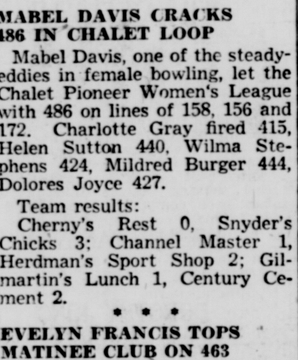
Lawrence, Kans. (NEA)—Wilt The Stilt Chamberlain blocked 90 opponents' shots in the first 11 Kansas games.

Rice, Maryland and Clemson will replace Southern Methodist, Pittsburgh and Tennessee on the 1957 Duke football schedule.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By hal sharp

A SIMPLE BLIND



AN ELABORATE BLIND IS NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY. A LEAFY TREE LIMB, HELD TO CONCEAL A HUNTER UNTIL HIS TARGET IS WITHIN GUN'S RANGE, CAN SERVE FOR "PASS SHOOTING" DUCKS AND GEESE WHEN NO OTHER COVER IS NEAR.

LOGS, TREES, STUMPS AND MAN-SIZED BOULDERS WILL CONCEAL A HUNTER NICELY AND THEY'RE PART OF THE NATURAL SCENE. WEAR INCONSPICUOUS CLOTHING.

13 Starters Due In Maturity for $172,230 Purse

Arcadia, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—Thirteen starters probably will face the barrier Saturday as Santa Anita holds its tenth running of the Maturity Stakes for a purse of $172,230.

The weatherman indicates that rain is likely, and if so, it will be the third time in the last four years that the Maturity has been run in off going.

Racing secretary Jimmy Kilroe says King Ranch's Beam Rider flew in last week from winter quarters in Columbia, S. C. He worked a mile between races yesterday in 1:38 4/5, and Ralph Neves had him in restraint after the first quarter. He will go coupled with Better Weapon for King Ranch in the mile and one-quarter fixture.

Another horse that figures to improve with more rain is C. V. Whitney's Born Mighty, who has outworked all his Maturity rivals. His stablemate, Head Man, is rated as the better horse, but trainer Syl Veitch thinks Born Mighty is about to run his best race after his 2:04 3/5 workout for the maturity distance.

"That's the best he's ever turned in," said Veitch. "He never has been a good workhorse."

Mickey Mantle, Pat McCormick Get AP Awards

Milwaukee, Jan. 24 (AP)—Two great, but humble athletes—Mickey Mantle and Mrs. Pat McCormick—last night received sturdy, silver trophies signifying their eminence in the world of sports.

The baseball star and the queen of divers were honored for having been selected the male and female athletes of 1956 in the annual Associated Press poll.

A crowd of 1,000, including air force Gen. Emmett "Rosie" O'Donnell, attended the fraternal Order of Eagles-Frederick C. Miller awards dinner. The trophies honored the memory of Miller, a local sportsman.

O'Donnell, an outstanding athlete in his own right back in the late 20's when he attended West Point, mixed praise of Mantle and Mrs. McCormick with a plea for an ever-alert America.

He also congratulated the sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the AP's year-end poll for showing "discernment and good judgment" in selecting Mantle and Mrs. McCormick.

Ted Smits of New York, general sports editor of the Associated Press, told the gathering that the worldwide news gathering agency is "quite proud of our 'athletes of the year' awards."

Still Growing

Milwaukee (NEA) — Eddie Mathews, Braves' third baseman, hit more home runs—190—before his 25th birthday than any player in major league history.

Gene Lary, Mobile pitcher and brother of Detroit's Frank Lary, was the most valuable player in the Southern Assn. in 1956. He won 19 games and lost 7.

Rupp Likes 24-Second Rule; Would Ban Backcourt Fouls

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 24 (AP)—The top collegiate basketball powers are resting between semesters but outspoken Adolph Rupp, coach of fifth-ranked Kentucky, is still on the attack.

Rupp, never one to let success stop the search for improvement, has leveled a blast at rules he feels cut spectator interest.

He believes professional basketball is "way ahead of the colleges in progressive rules and I predict the next great development and growth in sports will be that of professional basketball. It has been forced to make progressive rule changes to hold spectator interest."

Likes 24-Second Rule

One rule Rupp would have the colleges pick up from the pros is the 24-second limit on ball-possession before a team takes a shot.

But the change he wants most is elimination of the bonus free throw—where a player is given a second free throw for making the first.

"When one-half of the score in a game is from free throws, it's time to check on the spectator interest," Rupp said in an interview. "The delay in the game and the parade from one end of the floor to the other has little appeal."

"I have advocated for years that an offensive foul be only penalized by loss of the ball; a defensive foul be penalized with one free throw unless in the act of shooting; "no harm" fouls in the backcourt be overlooked."

Seek Games

The Stewart Air Force Base basketball team is interested in playing either home or road games through February. Interested teams should write to the Base Athletic Section, 329th Fighter Group, Stewart Air Force Base or call Newburgh 4900, Extension 565.

Saugerties C of C Elects Reynolds For Third Term

Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., was elected president of Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce for a third term at the annual meeting held Wednesday night at the Exchange Hotel.

Board of directors elected were former vice-president Arthur London; Herbert Lachmann and Norman Reamer, reelected.

Cites Seven Goals

A proposal to select a man or woman of the year for Saugerties at the annual banquet was included in seven goals outlined in President Reynolds' annual message.

Other goals included completion of the Christmas lighting fund drive; an intensified membership campaign, a study of possible changes in the constitution and by-laws; study on the possibility of promoting a parking lot for Main street; perpetuation of the Miss Saugerties Pageant and to investigate means to curb the overabundance of out of town solicitations.

President Reynolds cited the successes of the year including increased membership; excellent publicity coverage in the Hudson Valley and the State; community owned Christmas lights and permanent street cables and the opening of the municipal parking lot on Partition street.

In accordance with the procedure of the annual meeting, Albert J. Cawein, executive secretary submitted his resignation to the newly elected officers and directors. He was commended for his work during 1956 and reinstated as executive secretary for 1957.

Breakfast Slated

Mr. London, chairman of the Christmas light fund drive breakfast announced that the event would be held in the Viennese Kitchen on Partition street, Wednesday, Feb. 6 at 8:30 a. m.

The executive secretary's report showed that the organization had 100 members during 1956 compared to 81 last year. Of the 31 new members accepted, 22 were taken in during the special membership campaign.

The treasurer's report showed the Christmas lighting fund at $2,108. The goal was set at $4,100.

Charles Fous, chairman and Ben Fein were appointed to a committee to plan a meeting of all members and interested parties to hear a speaker from the Labor Department in Albany explain the phases of the new minimum wage labor law which goes into effect Feb. 17.

A board of directors meeting was scheduled Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. at Tom Reynolds Photo Studio, Partition street.

To Open Office

CHARLES A. WEAVER

Charles A. Weaver, chiropractor, announced today the opening of his chiropractic office at 602 Delaware avenue.

He is a graduate of the Palmer School of Chiropractic and has come to Kingston to take over the office and practice formerly conducted by Warren J. Sussin, chiropractor.

He is a charter member of The Chiropractic Polio Clinic Foundation, which renders free care to all patients stricken with polio. He is also a member of the International Chiropractic Association and the American Legion.

Mr. Weaver is married. He and Mrs. Weaver have two small sons, Michael and Scott.

Must Stand Trial

Eastbourne, England, Jan. 24 (AP)—Five magistrates today ordered Dr. John Bodkin to stand trial on a charge of murdering a wealthy widow patient.

The 58-year-old society physician, asked if he had anything to say, replied:

"I am not guilty and I reserve my defense."

He Rings Twice

Rice Lake, Wis. (AP)—Pity the poor postman! Orville Olson and Orville J. Olson live two houses apart here. And then there are Tom Quinn and Martin Quinn who are next door neighbors. None is related.

Reds Will Veto Kashmir Force

Karachi, Pakistan, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Soviet Union today was reported planning to veto any proposal in the UN Security Council to send a UN emergency force to Kashmir.

The UN correspondent of the times of Karachi wrote that Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister V. V. Kuznetsov told him in an interview:

"As soon as foreign troops leave Egypt, United Nations emergency forces should be disbanded. We do not think their next destination should be Kashmir."

The council is now hearing debate on Pakistani request that a UN force be sent to the Himalayan state which Pakistan and India both claim.

The Times correspondent said Soviet views on Kashmir are well known and there has been no change in them. Premier Bulganin and Soviet Communist party chief Khrushchev said during their visit to India in 1955 that India should get the state. India and Pakistan have divided it since a UN cease-fire in 1949 ended their war over possession of the state.

Ike, Mamie Resume Social Season Tonight

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—The President and Mrs. Eisenhower resume an official social season tonight after a two-year lapse.

More than 1,000 persons have been invited to a diplomatic reception—the first of a series of big formal gatherings at the White House.

Because of Eisenhower's illness no big White House social event has been held since a diplomatic reception Jan. 21, 1955, which closed the 1954-55 official social season.

Tonight's reception comes just three days after the President's second inauguration. Many who attended the four inaugural balls will be on hand for personal greetings from the President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

The State Department says the invited guest list includes chiefs of foreign missions, all ambassadors and ministers, consular and senior attaches, and some government and State Department officials.

Icy Winds Lash Parts of State, End Flood Threat

Albany, Jan. 24 (AP)—Icy winds today lashed New York state as it emerged from yesterday's nightmare of floods in some sections and heavy snow and gales in others.

One death was reported.

Temperatures that had soared to springlike 50's earlier this week crashed well below freezing overnight and ended the sudden thaw that had caused floods in many areas.

Below-zero readings were reported overnight in northern New York.

The weather bureau reported these overnight lows:

Massena –12, Watertown –6, Rome 1, Utica –1, Plattsburgh –2, Glens Falls 3, Albany 5, Oneonta 1, Poughkeepsie 11, New York 9, Syracuse 1, Rochester 5, Buffalo 2, Olean 3, Elmira 7, Binghamton 0.

Fair, Cold Outlook

The bureau said today would be generally fair and cold, with the highest temperature about 15.

In Buffalo, the body of James Wilson, 50, was found on the bumper of his taxi, which had stalled yesterday in a flooded street.

Police said he apparently died of exposure.

Winds uprooted trees and caused power failures in rural areas of Chenango county last night.

Heavy snow fell yesterday in western and central New York and in the Adirondacks.

The Public Works Department dynamited an ice jam in the Mad river yesterday near Camden, Oneida county. The river had spilled onto Route 69 and 2½ feet of water froze on the highway when temperatures fell.

Cold weather persisted over most of the midwest and spread into most of the eastern third of the country today, ending a brief spell of spring-like temperatures.

Temperatures in the eastern area dropped quickly as gusty winds brought in the icy air. Readings ranged from the 30s to 40s in the Gulf states to the teens in the Ohio valley. Marks in the 30s and 40s also were reported in the Carolinas and ranged around zero in New England. Southern Florida escaped the chilly breezes.

Drop 40 Degrees

Sub-zero weather was indicated in sections of the northeast, some 40 to 50 degrees lower than yesterday morning.

The cold air continued to spread southward over the northern Plains and temperatures ranged from 15 to 20 degrees below zero in North Dakota and Montana. It was cold in most of the midwest, with readings below freezing.

A little warming occurred in the Great Plains region except the extreme southern and northern areas. A warming trend also was reported from the central and northern Rockies westward to the Pacific coast.

Bandit Holds Up Bank

Baltimore, Jan. 24 (AP) — A lone, non-talking bandit held up a branch of the Fidelity Baltimore National Bank today and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash. Witnesses said the gunman, with a white handkerchief covering most of his face, entered, silently motioned bank employes to one side with his gun, vaulted the railing, scooped up as much cash as he could and fled to a waiting grey car. He ignored three customers in the bank.

FIREMEN HONOR WHITBECK—A testimonial dinner honoring the long service record of Raymond L. Whitbeck as a volunteer fireman was held Wednesday evening at the SRS Home, Cottekill. Mr. Whitbeck, secretary of the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company, Inc., has been a volunteer fireman for 54 years. Seated (l-r) County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, Mr. Whitbeck, Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who served as toastmaster, and former Surrogate Judge John B. Sterley; standing, Joseph Fassbender, vice president of the fire company; William Davis, dinner chairman, and Capt. A. President Says He Has No Plans To Visit Abroad

Washington, Jan. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently has ruled out a trip to India or anywhere else abroad in the predictable future.

India's Prime Minister Nehru extended an invitation to Eisenhower when Nehru visited the United States in mid-December.

But yesterday Eisenhower told his news conference that while he hopes many foreign leaders will visit him in Washington during his second term, he currently has "no plans to go anywhere outside the United States."

The President said he would be happy to travel to a number of "vital places where I would like to go, visit with the governments and see the people."

But Eisenhower said the special nature of the presidency makes it "rather awkward" for him to be away from the country for any prolonged period.

Eisenhower's longest absence from the country during his first term came in July 1955 when he attended the summit conference at Geneva. He was away from the United States for a little more than a week at that time.

Hits Poland Election

Vatican City, Jan. 24 (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano said today Poland's elections were not free. Voters Sunday were given only "a choice between the communism of Wladyslaw Gomulka and that imposed by Soviet arms, with its disastrous consequences," the Vatican newspaper asserted. Poland chose Gomulka — but "there is no cause for optimism," it went on, and added that the Polish people "knew, after the Hungarian tragedy, that in the Communist system, self-rule of people does not count."

Explosions Cause $500,000 Damage

Bethel, Conn., Jan. 24 (AP)—A fire like a "huge blowtorch," accompanied by explosions, destroyed two commercial structures today and blew out windows of Bethel High School on the next block.

Damage to the commercial buildings was estimated unofficially at more than $500,000.

High school students, who were to have taken their midyear examinations today, were given the day off pending an inspection of damage to the school.

The fire swept through a magnesium ladder factory of the White Light Structure Co. with an intensity that led one spectator to liken the factory to a "huge blowtorch."

Hornbeck Cited On Long Service

Harry Hornbeck, Ohioville, was honored this week on the occasion of his thirty-fifth anniversary of service with the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation. He was cited for his long service and received a service emblem from the company president, Ernest R. Acker, at ceremonies in the untility's general offices in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Hornbeck joined Central Hudson on January 23, 1922 as a helper in Saugerties. He was promoted to electrician in November of that year and was transferred to Poughkeepsie in March, 1929.

The veteran utility man was advanced to operating department foreman in August, 1946 and is currently serving in that capacity in the company's construction division at Elting's Corners.

Mr. Hornbeck is a member of the Central Hudson Employes' Quarter Century Club.
